board and president of Germania Federal Savings and Loan; Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer; Jack Lee, vice president of First National Bank in Madison; and Cheryl Jovett, director of the county's Community Development department, through which the program was administered.

Plan county bonds for expansion here

A proposed $900,000 bond issue enabling a local company to expand was discussed at Thursday's session of the Finance Committee of the Madison County Board.

Metro East Industrial Supply of Granite City would locate a larger plant on Illinois Route 182 near Mockingbird in Nameoki Township. Employment is to rise from the present 18 to 40 if the project becomes a reality. It would be the first industrial revenue development bond issue by the Madison County government. Granite City has had numerous bond issues of this type.

Aaron Ridenour, an industrial development specialist with the county, told the committee the county has had the power to initiate such bonds for several years. He stressed that action is urgent because a Missouri group is trying to lure the same business.

Donald McLean of the committee suggested a cautious approach and said a public hearing might be a good idea. He added that he does not oppose the bonds but does not want citizens to

County rent fraud allegation

The Madison County Housing Authority is investigating an allegation of fraudulent "side payments" by tenants to landlords.

At least one community is said to be involved, in the central area of the county. It is not being named, nor are the landlords or tenants being publicly identified at this time.

The contention is that landlords forced occupants of federally-subsidized housing to pay money in addition to their monthly rent.

The payments allegedly were made in secret and were not reported to the MCHA. Such a procedure would violate U.S. housing regulations and federal laws.

Public suggestions sought on school cost cuts

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Rumors are flying but no specific Granite City school cutbacks have been decided upon, the district emphasized today in requesting citizens' cost-reduction ideas.

Major trimming of expenditures is planned effective at the end of the 1982-83 school year because an income-outlay financial imbalance has grown alarmingly during a time of inflation, recession and 20 percent unemployment.

Many residents are beginning to speculate that North High School might be converted to a district-wide Junior high school center, with all high school students assigned to older and larger South High. Initially designed as a combination junior-high and elementary school, the North complex was opened to students in September 1973.

The speculation adds that any overflow at South could utilize part of adjacent Coolidge Junior High, whose upper floor is not in use this year. Some people believe one or two grade schools also may be closed next fall.

As a consequence of such speculation, administrators, department heads, coaches, club sponsors, teachers and others are wondering whose District Nine careers may be ended or altered in June 1983.

Some veteran employees already have scheduled their retirements for the spring of 1983, "reading the obvious handwriting on the wall" and taking advantage of early retirement procedures and benefits outlined by the school system.

"We're just being rumored to death," one school employee commented during the weekend, indicating that the topic of the school district's future has begun to preoccupy staff members, students and families.

Superintendent B. J. Davis told the Press-Record, "We are requesting citizens' and employees' input."

He underscored the fact that no final plans have yet been made on discontinuing programs, services, activities or schools. But he acknowledged that markedly reduced spending is unavoidable.

Supt. Davis said, "The Granite City community unit district is changing. For a long time, everything went up: enrollment, buildings, budgets, staff and expectations.

"The reality of escalating costs and limited revenues to educate a fewer number of students demands responsible proposals.

"The plan must preserve the quality of educational experiences currently provided to Granite City students, while maintaining reasonably stable financial foundations.

Madison school budget cut

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Madison County Board on Thursday night adopted a 1982-83 budget of $6,234,048, a reduction of $46,552 from the 1981-82 budget of $6,280,600. The action followed a public hearing on the new budget.

The total education allotment for the 1982-83 year is $5,028,000, down $78,185 from last year's $5,106,185.

The '82-83 budget also provides $724,688 for the building fund, down $67 from $724,755, and $140,500 for bonds and interest, a decline of $21,000 from $161,500 in '81-82.

It allocates $209,000 for transportation, up $17,950 from $191,050, and $120,850 for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund (employee pensions), a rise of $35,650 from $85,200.

Actual 1981-82 expenditures were $3,759,072 for education, $343,593 for buildings, $136,550 for bonds and interest, $132,859 for student transportation and $102,627 for municipal retirement.

School Superintendent John Palchett said the decrease in the education fund budget was due to economic factors and to "overbudgeting" last year.

No injuries as tank car leaks acid fumes

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
of the Press-Record

Wind currents blowing in a southerly direction potentially endangered parts of the Quad-City area Saturday but also helped to dissipate chlorosulfonic acid fumes from a ruptured railroad tank car.

The leak developed in the Venice railroad yards shortly after 8 a.m. Saturday, a short distance from the Broadway viaduct. Venice police and fire departments were alerted to possibly dangerous conditions by a Terminal Railroad Association supervisor at 8:40 a.m. after railroad employees determined that a seam had ruptured near the middle of the tank car's undercarriage.

May ease school mandates

A staff report recommending changes in the laws, rules and regulations that determine what children are taught in school will be the topic of public hearings sponsored by the State Board of Education on Oct. 1 and 27.

The board's Planning and Policy Committee will hear testimony Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Florentine Room of the Americana Congress Hotel, 520 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

On Oct. 27, the hearing will be conducted from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the County Board room of the St. Clair County Building, Belleville.

Persons interested in testifying are to sign up 30 minutes prior to the hearing and bring 10 copies of their testimony for distribution to the committee.

Although oral testimony will be limited to five minutes per person, written testimony of any length will be accepted.

The preliminary report, prepared by State Board staff as part of the board's review of all elementary and secondary education mandates, examined the instructional mandates—the requirements dealing with the Long lines of people formed at many of the locations hours before the published starting times, which caused confusion and misunderstanding by some individuals. Several people calling the Press-Record Friday morning complained of cheese being distributed at the Nameoki Township Hall before the published time.

The office of Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs reported lines forming as early as 6 a.m. for the scheduled 8:30 a.m. start. It has been alleged that the distribution began before 8:30.

"I gave the go ahead to start giving out the cheese around 8," Briggs said. "We had cars parking on the shoulders of Highway 182 when our lot filled up."

Citing the dangers of parking on the highway and the number of elderly people in line, Briggs said he decided to start early. "We already had more people than cheese by 8, so it really didn't make any difference if we waited until 8:30 or not," he contended.

Nameoki Township took on the added job of providing cheese for Granite City residents since Granite City Township declined to take part in the distribution of the surplus cheese. Briggs said that after assessing the information cards filled out by those receiving cheese, it was found that more than three-fourths of the people were from Granite City.

"I'm not going to accept Granite City people if we give out cheese again," Briggs stated. "I'm sorry there wasn't enough cheese for everyone, but we can only give out as much as we are allotted."

Nameoki Township received 4,900 pounds of the surplus cheese, a portion of which was distributed from the State Park Place Community Center.

Retroactive pay to Greathouse

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

A resolution passed March 26 by the Metro-East Sanitary District Board granted Board President Walter "Shang" Greathouse a $1,500 monthly expense allowance and made the payments retroactive to January, the Press-Record has learned.

The same day, the sanitary district's treasurer issued Greathouse a check for $4,500. Less than two weeks later, he received a $1,500 check for April expenses.

He had previously received mileage expenses of $362 for January and $324 for February for tours of the district, job site inspections and other district business.

In addition, in those months he was eligible for the $40 each board member routinely receives for attending each of the six to seven monthly sanitary district board meetings.

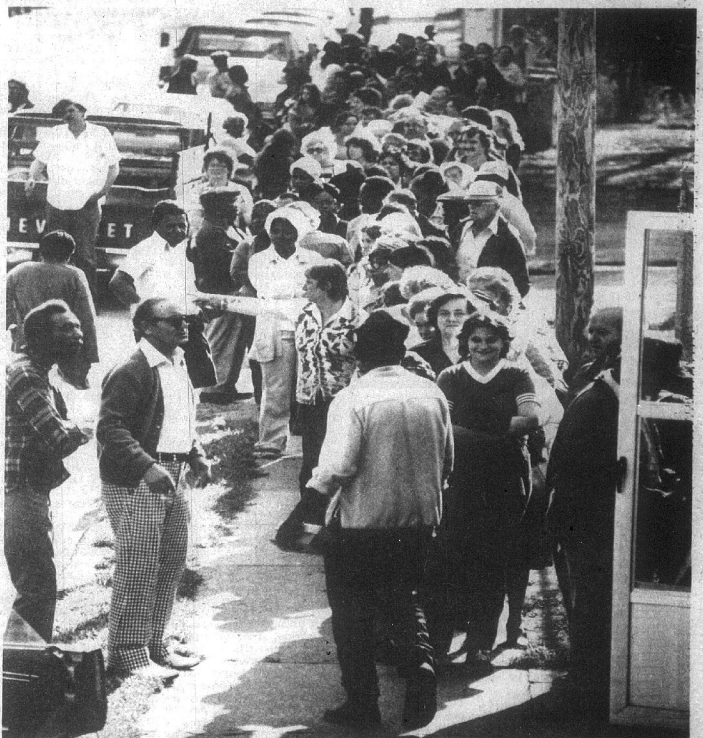

The board members also agreed to furnish a car to be used at Greathouse's discretion.

The expense allowance resolution approved by three of the five board members stated the sum should be a fixed monthly payment for the time and expenses required of Greathouse in his role as board president, citing his performance of "duties equal to an executive director."

The Metro-East Sanitary District Act of 1974 reconstituted the former East Side Levee and Sanitary District requires that the executive director be a registered professional engineer with at least 10 years of practical experience as an engineer and at least five years in an administrative and executive capacity.

Greathouse, who was appointed a member of the board in December 1977 and was elected president in December 1980, was the owner of Shang's Warehouse Liquor Co. when appointed. He is an independent real estate salesman.

State law says that pay to sanitary district board members is confined to (Continued on Page 3)

'82 soybean crop is huge

Illinois' soybean farmers aren't going to sit back and watch prices continue to slide, says the Illinois Soybean Program Operating Board (ISPOB) chairman, Tom Johnson.

"Once again U.S. farmers have shown their incredible ability to produce record crops," said Johnson, noting that just the increase in the 1982 U.S. soybean crop over last year will equal over half of last year's total Brazilian crop.

"We've got to increase our efforts to sell this huge crop and put profit back into soybean production," the Pleasant Plains farmer said. He recently submitted an ISPOB check for $187,500 to the American Soybean Development Foundation.

The investment brings to $750,000 the total given by Illinois farmers for export market promotion and research activities of the American Soybean Association.

Program Thursday on schools' classes on drugs, drinking

With Maryville School the center for Granite City schools' plot curriculum on drug and alcohol abuse prevention, Principal Jack Mulach has announced a parent-community orientation program.

It will take place Thursday, Sept. 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the North High School cafeteria.

The program for the evening will be centered around the plot drug and alcohol curriculum. All of the elementary PTA units are being asked to attend. The workshop will be presented by Jean Schram of the Madison County Council on Drug and Alcohol Dependency and Richard Shardan of the Narcotics Division of the Granite City Police Department.

The "plot" program is now in full operation at Maryville.

Q. It seems like every time I turn around someone is talking about the importance of estate planning. However, from my viewpoint, I question this because I'm wondering how important estate planning is for a person who is single and intends to remain so for a long time.

A. Estate planning is perhaps as important for the single person as for a married person. For all practical purposes, many single people have no one to look out for his interests if he should become incapacitated or is too ill to work or care for himself. Providing for such a possibility is included in good estate planning.

Adding another person to a single person is a necessity since there would be no one able to voice the deceased wishes. Without a will, or someone to intercede, the state will decide what to do with your estate. Disability insurance, investments for retirement, trusts, major medical insurance... all are part of good estate planning and become more necessary the more "single" a person is. And, if you think of it in terms of "lifetime" planning, rather than "estate" planning, you think you'll get the idea.

It was noted that the fair housing office in Washington did not understand parts of the agreement it had been asking the Authority to sign.

Authority Section 2 director Linda Bellows said HUD officials had to call the Chicago HUD office to confirm that "what they were asking us to do was against regulations."

In other business, the commissioners voted to accept the low bid from Tech Electronics, St. Louis, for telephone service at the main office in Collinsville. The service, with a two-year warranty, will cost $12,826.

An executive session was called to discuss staff reviews, in anticipation of the non-union contract renewals due in December.

Authority executive director Janet Harolan said after the special meeting.

Authority staff members have already drawn up a time table to pace the desegregation process, she said.

Attorney Joe Hill said the plan approved by the commissioners closely resembles the document the staff presented to Washington fair housing officials. "The changes HUD made were basically in our favor," Hill said.

The Authority is required, under the agreement, to establish minority populations of no less than 25 percent and no more than 75 percent in county housing projects.

Only one of the 12 projects run by the Authority (Northgate Homes in Collinsville) currently is in compliance.

Commissioner Reese Hoskins, Authority chairman, said HUD officials were willing to work with the five-person task force the Authority sent to the Capitol.

"They listened to us and they discussed matters and accepted changes we had proposed or recommended," Hoskins said. "We were well received."

Other commissioners echoed that feeling, but Commissioner Paul Buegel added the HUD officials seemed "a little upset that we didn't accept their proposal and fall in line right away like they wanted us to."

Authority okays fair- housing plan

By PAIGE ST. JOHN

A new fair housing plan was unanimously ratified last week by the Madison County Housing Authority. The commissioners said they were happy to finally have an agreement but were still miffed at the way federal officials handled the plan.

Officials of the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington, D.C., are adding their signatures to the document, making it official and bringing to an end a debate that started in April 1981.

The Housing Authority will have 30 days to prepare to implement a desegregation plan, Authority executive director Janet Harolan said after the special meeting.

Authority staff members have already drawn up a time table to pace the desegregation process, she said.

The superintendent and board are believed leaning strongly toward preserving diverse instructional programs, favoring "quality over quantity" in most respects.

It appears likely that fewer schools will be operated, but that every effort will be made to assure effective and varied educational processes within the remaining facilities.

Among the past cost-slashing contingency plans being "dusted off" for current study and possible use is a 1976 budgetary reduction report.

Phase One, which was fully implemented, had as its goal the conservation of revenue and future expenditures without reducing programs. It consisted of:

A. "The retiring staff replaced with less-experienced staff, reducing costs by replacing teacher with teacher requiring a lesser salary. (This was done, but it has become more difficult with the passing years, since layoffs are an annual occurrence and there has been less opportunity to hire any new teachers.)"

B. "Phase out older elementary buildings, reducing the upkeep and staff. (Washington, Stallings and education programs offered in the schools.

The instructional program requirements found in The School Code and Chapter IV of State Board of Education Document 1 (SBE-1) were grouped into 13 categories:

Language arts.
Mathematics.
Science.
Social studies and history.
Foreign languages.
Art and music.
Career education.
Vocational education.
Health education.
Safety education.
Consumer education.
Conservation education.
Honesty, justice, kindness and moral courage.
Metric measurement.
And general requirements.

The requirements in each of these categories fell into one of two broad types of mandates: those which outlined what schools must do or those which students must take, and those which

The general election is set for Nov. 2.

McKinley were closed in the late 1970s.

C. "Place a year-to-year moratorium on all new non-mandated curriculum offerings. Reduce introduction of new offerings without eliminating a present offering. In this way, new positions are not created to implement programs. (This was in effect for a while, but in more recent years new courses have been added.)"

D. "Moratorium on new, non-mandated, non-curricular related programs, to save on staff salaries in these areas and to save on equipment and supplies."

E. "Use of substitutes for homebound teaching, reducing the pay scale."

F. "Pay a bonus for early retirement of certificated staff. Replacing it with less experienced staff members could more than save the cost of a bonus."

Phase Two of the 1976 plan was defined as "maintaining services and programs, but at a lesser degree than presently offered."

The district reduced its support staff, including cafeteria and custodial employees, cutting the payroll and fringe benefits.

District Nine also realigned administrative positions, curbing the allocation for salaries and fringes. Elements of Phase Two not implemented were increasing the teacher-pupil ratio, reducing nursing services, and trimming the number of extracurricular assignments.

Phase Three of the 1976 study related to "drastically curtailing school costs."

It envisioned study of contractual services for all support areas, to achieve reductions in salaries and fringe benefits.

Supt. Davis said, "This was undertaken and has resulted in the district streamlining operations in support areas while still maintaining district management of these areas." For example, the student lunch program was losing more than half-million dollars a year but now is near the break-even point.

No other portions of Phase Three were put into effect.

"Limit salary increases to step (years of experience) or training raises only."

— "Freeze all salaries."

— "Hold on fringe benefits, such as the broadening of employee insurance."

— "Reduce non-academic elementary teaching positions, such as physical education, vocal music and band, instead offering those subjects as extracurricular only, in order to reduce payroll and fringe benefits."

— "Reduce benefits for employee insurance, such as having the employee pick up the charge for dependent coverage and possibly spouse coverage."

The 1976 planning document also listed "miscellaneous small items that make no great impact on expenditures when considered overall."

"In-service programs and staff trips."

"Cut long-distance contests and student trips."

"Reduce purchases of instructional supplies."

"Less student transportation. Transport no pupils living in areas served by the Bi-State Transit System where the bus goes near the school attended."

"Telephone, postage machines and utilities."

"Eliminate some historical benefits which are not in employee working agreements."

"Textbooks, supplementary books and rental books."

As noted, Supt. Davis wants to maintain "reasonably stable financial foundations" but also to "preserve the quality of educational experiences currently provided."

Many local educators are believed to favor retention of two high schools if at all possible, since the two-school approach of the past decade has led to expanded opportunities and leadership roles for individual students—in athletics, academics, extracurricular activities and other programs.

Another disadvantage of closing various buildings and consolidating instruction at a small number of attendance centers is that more students would have to be provided bus transportation.

Expanded busing would not only involve big costs, but would complicate remaining after school for sports, clubs, rehearsals and study.

The size of the financial shortfall is roughly doubling annually, from $3.8 million in 1981-82 to $7.6 million this year, and the enrollment of seventh through twelfth graders is expected to continue to decrease during the 1980s. These are facts that board members are convinced cannot be ignored.

No one has been advocating fewer schools as a way of improving much of anything—except "overhead" operating costs. Less buildings would help the district reduce fuel bills, utility costs and staff size, and also would enable some duplicate costs to be avoided, it is felt.

Although logic may dictate radical streamlining after the present school year, it is generally conceded that operating costs are less than the wrenching, deeply frustrating occurrence.

The official "trauma center" for this community is at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, but there would be emotional trauma at the sites of any and all schools phased out of existence in 1983. For those with thoughts on what should or should not be done to balance the budget, a "suggestion box" is now wide open at the board office for their notes, cards and letters.

identify what schools must offer and students may elect to take.

According to the report, the state has created "a collection of requirements which lack consistency, are often arbitrary and do not clearly communicate their purposes."

"Once in a law or regulation, they were seldom removed. As a consequence, as new mandates were added and older ones were expanded, it became virtually impossible to discern the relative priority the state was placing on them."

The mandates, as they currently exist, do not spell out what knowledge and skills students should have as a result of receiving instruction in specific areas.

"Only four of the 15 mandate groupings considered in this study specify in any way what the state expects children to know and/or be able to do as a consequence of the required instruction," the report states.

In an effort to correct this deficiency, it recommends replacing the instructional mandates with a set of clearly stated, broadly defined statements—outlining what students in Illinois public schools must at least know and be able to do in each of the general areas of learning."

These broad statements would be updated by the State Board of Education as the passage of time and changes in knowledge and technology would dictate.

Local districts, with technical assistance from the State Board, would be responsible for developing their own course objectives and standards consistent with the goals outlined by the state.

Student assessment would become an integral part of the instructional program requirements, according to the report.

Districts, again with aid from the State Board, would develop local assessment procedures to determine whether the instructional programs meet the needs of the students and are consistent with local and state objectives.

Retroactive pay

that for actual board meetings attended at a fee fixed by the county board.

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said yesterday his understanding was that the $1,500 monthly payments to Greathouse are intended solely for expenses.

He said the county board does not regulate the expense money allowed sanitary district board members; that is the function of the district board.

The March 28 MESD board minutes, prior to passage of the resolution, read that "the consensus of all the commissioners was that there should be a way to compensate him (Greathouse)."

The minutes further state, "the amount to be strictly compensation and not to be construed that Walter Greathouse is an employee of the district."

Hagnauer said he has not read the resolution. The appointment of sanitary district board members is made by Hagnauer (for the three Madison Countyans on by law) and by St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello (for the two St. Clair Countyans), subject to the approval of their respective county boards.

While his expense resolution cites his duties as similar to that of an executive director, but rules out status as an employee, Greathouse says he has administered the district since becoming president in 1980. The district has been without an executive director since 1979.

He said the district could not afford to hire another director that year, after firing its previous director, and now Greathouse views himself as the best candidate for the job.

According to Greathouse, he oversees district projects seven days a week. His expense vouchers do not list the actual hours spent on the job.

He does not believe there is a need to hire a full-time engineer for the district, which controls surface water drainage and sewage disposal and treatment, despite the requirement.

To resign his position as board president and fill a lesser administrative role would make his job vulnerable to being so many sanitary district board meetings.

With all members in attendance, each meeting costs the district $200 and there often are two meetings, and sometimes three, during the course of a week. Even in the 1970s, there sometimes were nine, 10 or 11 meetings in a month's time.

Each member also is reimbursed 25 cents per mile to travel back and forth to the meetings.

"If I don't have anything to talk about, I'm totally embarrassed," said Greathouse. On Thursday, the board business consisted of approving two sewage permits without discussion.

Regarding last Tuesday's meeting, officials said no business was transacted (although a sudden move of part of the Granite City Office to Washington Park took place Wednesday morning).

Board members also use the 25 cents per mile allowed for travel in their personal vehicles to tour and inspect the district on their own. Travel expenses to the district for those inspections and meetings usually range from about $100 to $250 per month per board member.

Board-approved mileage claims for August included 902 miles for member Robert Bergman, 1,019 miles for Hoesa Slack and 779 miles driven by Robinson.

David Bergfield, whose August claim has not yet been filed, listed a total of 1,278 miles for the combined months of April, May, June and July.

Hagnauer said that, for his own information, he plans to discuss with the Madison County state's attorney's office—the expense payment versus administrative salary question related to Greathouse's monthly fees.

salary is set by state statute.

He feels board members are only entitled to the $40 per meeting approved by the county boards.

Greathouse, on the other hand, questions both the cost and necessity of conducting so many sanitary district board meetings.

With all members in attendance, each meeting costs the district $200 and there often are two meetings, and sometimes three, during the course of a week. Even in the 1970s, there sometimes were nine, 10 or 11 meetings in a month's time.

Plan county

think the bond is rushing the plan past its normal legislative process.

Mrs. Mary Kane, supervisor of administration in the county government, said she has been discussing the proposal since March.

Ridener commented that, after Dec. 31, 1982, new laws and U.S. Internal Revenue Service rules will make such bond undertakings much more complex.

He said that, if the county proceeds with the bond issue now, it will bear no liability for the bonds if there is a default, nor would there be any expenditure of county tax money.

Because the bonds are tax-free, they could be sold for an interest rate less than that of the conventional market; the resulting savings would induce the company to remain in Madison County, Ridener concluded.

Board Member William R. Haine regarded the concept favorably. It would give industries a break on federal taxes and interest rates while expanding the county's tax base, he comments.

Mrs. Kane believes there are no hidden obligations and stresses that the county merely would be offering its issuing authority in order for a tax-free status to be obtained.

The county would in no way be encumbered, she adds; the company would have the full obligation and would perform all the work related to the bond issue.

centering on the Section 8 housing program. Rent which such a tenant pays is subsidized by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the HUD funds are administered by the MCHA.

Section 8 sets a limit on rent, based on tenant income, family size and other factors. It is being asserted that, in at least two instances, landlords understated what they actually were charging.

A landlord violating the regulations is permanently dropped from the Section 8 program and barred from participating in the subsidized housing.

Mrs. Janet Harolan, MCHA executive director, says tenants who wish to come forward need not fear reprisals or prosecution; they will be assisted in finding other dwellings.

However, tenants are subject to legal action if they misrepresent their income or the number of persons in their family.

Picket line at Democratic picnic turns some away

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Editor

Madison County Democrats, going to the party's political rally and barbecue yesterday at Edwardsville, faced an unusual situation and different officials handled it differently.

The "roadblock" was in the form of a picket line established by Teamsters Local 528, whose members carried signs saying that several county officials are "Unfair to labor."

Officials named were: Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City; County Administrator Mary Kane; and County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, Circuit Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell; County Coroner Dallas Burke and County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields.

Most of those named crossed the picket line, feeling that it was informational in nature and not affiliated with a strike.

State Rep. Sam Wolf of Granite City, on the other hand, read the signs, returned to his car with State Rep. Michael Slape (D-Pocahontas) and they left.

"I don't know what their complaint is, but the placards read, 'Unfair to organized labor.' On that basis, I couldn't cross the picket line in my life," he added.

Wolf said he knew in advance that there would be a picket line, "but I didn't know what kind. If it had been informational, I would have gone in."

Boy Scouts at balloon race

A yearly event for Boy Scout Troop Seven, of St. Joseph Church, is attending the Forest Park balloon race. The scouts viewed some 50 balloons taking off from the "Pike," the mile-long midway of the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair, now a 9-hole city golf course.

Prior to the start of the "bare and bounds" race, the scouts watched a skydiving exhibition, in which 10 parachutists landed on the golf course.

After the balloon race, they went to Pine's for pizza before going to the Kiel's Exhibition Hall for the Harris' Classic Car Exhibit. At this exhibit the boys saw many classic cars, including one costing $5-million, dollars, Elvis Presley's car.

The day's activities included attending Swensen's Ice Cream Factory, located at Laclede's Landing, for the 14th birthday celebration of the Troop's Senior Patrol Leader, Kevin Williamson.

The next activity for the troop will be on Thursday, Sept. 23, when they will attend the Cardinals baseball game.

'Y' aquatic fall activities

The Tri-City Area YMCA has scheduled several programs for the fall quarter, including fun-and-fitness, arthritis exercises (in the pool), and swimming classes. Most fall events will start in the week beginning Oct. 4.

Fun-and-fitness classes are held Monday through Friday after school. This class offers aerobic exercise in the gym and a recreational swim. Children six to 11 years old are eligible for this activity.

The arthritis class is conducted in the swimming pool. It offers a variety of exercise which emphasizes movement of each joint. The class is open to people of all ages.

Swim classes are for "children of all ages," six months through adults. These classes are open to advanced as well as beginning swimmers. Emphasis is placed on relaxing and learning different skills in the water.

John Krekovich Jr. of Granite City has joined the Union Chemicals Division of Union Oil and shortly will be serving the Kansas City (Mo.) area as a sales representative.

He graduated in May from Northern Illinois University at DeKalb with a bachelor of science degree in business and marketing.

Upon accepting the position with Union Oil, Krekovich underwent a four-week training period at Schaumburg, Ill., where he was familiarized with aliphatic and aromatic solvents as well as various chemicals.

Currently, he is involved in additional training related to fiberglass products from Owens-Corning and aluminum products from Alcoa Corp.

A 1978 graduate of Granite City High School South, Krekovich was a member of the Warrior soccer team for three years.

At NIU, he continued playing soccer for the school's NCAA Division I team for four years and captained the varsity squad during his senior year.

Also at NIU, Krekovich was named twice to the dean's list and was a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon social fraternity.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John (Loretta) Krekovich, 3600 Wabash Ave.

ARREST IN VENICE
Rhonda Manson, 18, of 413 Weaver St., Venice, was charged with disorderly conduct last week after Sam Brown, 1035 Douglas St., Venice, had been struck repeatedly while on a porch.

Officers alleged that she refused to stop hitting him when told to do so, and that she used a brick to strike a window of Brown's auto.

Baseball uniforms are stolen

It looks like someone is trying to keep the Madison High School baseball team down this year.

On Thursday, John Paskus, baseball coach, found that 28 jerseys and 21 pairs of pants had been taken from a locked storage area in the boys' physical education room.

When Paskus went to check on equipment, he noticed the door had been kicked in and left open.

Another coach recalled that he had found the door open three days earlier and reported it to the high school office.

The uniforms are white with green vertical pin striping. "Madison" is written across the front of the jerseys, with 8-inch-high numbers on the back.

Disaster readiness is essential

As today's front-page article points out, no injuries have been attributed to the occurrence Saturday morning when a hazardous chemical leaked from a railroad tank car in Venice.

But the incident calls attention to the fact that this community, as a major transportation hub, is more vulnerable than many to the various cargoes that are brought to and through here.

A big cloud of white vapor began emanating from the car in the rail yards a short distance south of the Broadway viaduct. The leak could not be immediately halted, so residents of Brooklyn and National City were asked to remain indoors as much as possible.

Wind eventually dispersed the ominous cloud of chlorosulfonic acid fumes. The Quad-City area and the St. Clair County communities immediately south of here apparently will suffer no lingering ill effects from the experience.

Venice and Madison firemen and other personnel responded quickly to cope with this emergency. All who helped prevent it from becoming a serious problem deserve commendation.

Perhaps additional discussions should be held here periodically on such perils, utilizing the most up-to-date information available from shippers and from the state and federal governments.

So far, this community has been fortunate not to experience the kind of spills, leaks, explosions and other crises that have occurred at various transportation centers in the United States.

But the potential challenge to local safety and welfare remains, as was illustrated this weekend in Venice.

Beef up student loans, grants

There is talk of expanding Illinois state loan provisions for college students before the General Assembly completes its 1982 deliberations, and a good case can be made for the idea.

As officials in Springfield point out, higher education plays a critically important role in providing a talented, educated work force. Access to educational services in community colleges, proprietary schools, and public and private four-year and graduate programs is a vital component of all Illinois economic development planning.

Student demand for higher education has risen during these difficult economic times. Enrollments have climbed as more students have signed up for education and training programs to increase their employability. But warning signs are visible.

The present Illinois Guaranteed Loan Program provides low-interest loans to undergraduate and graduate students through 1,220 private lenders throughout the state. The lenders receive an interest subsidy from the U.S., which also guarantees the loan.

Borrowers who used this type of loan for the first time before 1981 are eligible to renew it at 7 percent interest; new borrowers pay 9 percent.

All students with family incomes below $30,000 are eligible to receive these loans, and those with higher incomes are eligible if they can demonstrate need. However, recent changes have somewhat curtailed access to these federally-guaranteed loan funds.

As student demand has grown, the IGLP has expanded from 27,000 loans for $34.5 million in 1974 to 179,000 loans for $438 million in fiscal 1983. Unfortunately, the recent restrictions appear to be reducing the potential student loan demand by about 20 percent, educators say.

And Illinois students have experienced reduced access to National Direct Student Loans, declining from $14 million a year ago to $8.2 million.

The Illinois Monetary Award Program provides $95 million to 90,000 Illinois students in need-based grants for tuition and fees. It ranks second in the nation in the total number and amount of awards made. Since 1978, it has grown by 28 percent, from $74 million. Other grant programs in this state assist veterans, National Guardsmen, minority students in health professions, and others.

Action needs to be considered to help able students and their families find the resources to make use of the outstanding educational opportunities offered at Illinois institutions of higher learning.

Fall is the 'apple of our eye'

Apples can be grown in every state of the union with the exception of Alaska, Florida and Hawaii (don't ask us why) but are especially attractive in such nearby areas as St. Clair County to the south and Macoupin County to the north.

How best to store apples? They maintain their firm, fresh, sweet, juicy quality if kept in the refrigerator in a plastic bag or in the hydrator.

Another good way to store them is in the form of the delicious apple butter made by Quad-City church members each fall.

And, if you have an extra one on hand, we've always heard it said that an apple for the teacher can be mighty helpful in getting a school day off to a positive start.

"I'll be with you in apple blossom time . . ." The old recording by the Andrews Sisters comes to mind each year at this time as Quad-Cityans head for Illinois orchards to pick ripening fruit.

Those who encourage apple-picking outings are quick to point out that "an apple a day not only keeps the doctor away but also:

—Reduces or prevents some types of heart disease.
—Helps the digestive and regulatory system function properly.
—Helps maintain cholesterol balance.
—Contains fruit sugar for quick energy."

"They add that apples also are useful in weight control. The typical apple grown in this neck of the woods contains 85 calories and is relatively high in potassium and low in sodium.

When the government of the shah was toppled, he emerged as Iran's anti-American foreign minister, fanatical as a spokesman during the agony of the hostage crisis.

Then the terror came. The Islamic fundamentalists around Khomeini took a course of ruthless suppression of dissent.

Whatever the sins of the shah's regime, they did not compare with the bloody consequences of the new Iranian "justice." The UN Commission on Human Rights estimates that 4,000 political prisoners were executed or died from mistreatment in Iran last year alone.

The latest victim: Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, 46, convicted by an Islamic court of plotting to overthrow the ayatollah and install a secular government, executed this month by a firing squad in Tehran's Evin prison.

Ironies in the Iran revolution

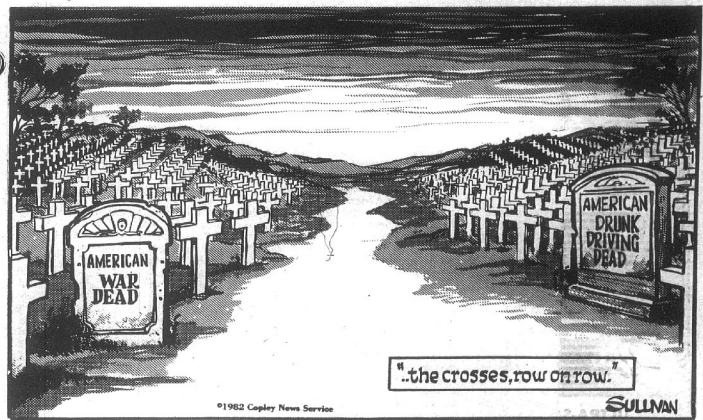

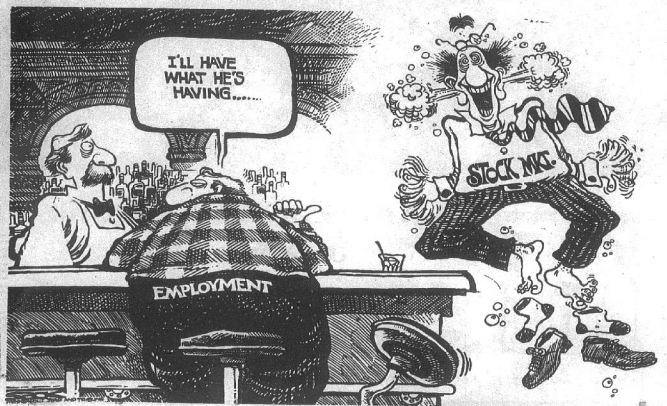

Press-Record Washington Bureau — The Iranian revolution has been replete with ironies, and they all come together in the life and death of Sadegh Ghotbzadeh.

The son of a well-to-do lumber merchant in Iran, he came from that comfortable middle class which has produced some of history's most fervent radicals.

As a student at Washington's Georgetown University in the 1960s, he helped organize demonstrations painting the shah of Iran as a cruel tyrant who did not deserve the support of the United States.

Ghotbzadeh joined the exiled followers of the Ayatollah Khomeini in Paris, serving as a contact with revolutionary movements in Europe and the Middle East, orchestrating political events that would undermine the shah's regime.

He returned in triumph to Tehran at the side of the ayatollah in 1979.

The FORUM

Now you see road funds; now you don't

To the Editor:

It's sleight-of-hand time, Governor Thompson's well paid public relations staff has prepared a program of illusion and legerdemain that will be appearing soon in Republican newspapers and editorial pages everywhere. Watch for press releases.

Remember the parlor trick where the magician pulls the coin from somebody's ear? Well, this is something like that, only with a twist.

Thompson will try to make it appear that he can produce several million dollars with the wave of his pen and put it in the pockets of highway construction crews. What makes this trick so difficult is that the governor will actually be taking money out of everybody's pocket and shoving it in their ear.

The show opens with an announcement that Gov. Thompson has transferred about $7 million from the General Revenue Fund to the Road Fund so more construction can be done this fall.

While doing this, "Big Jim" will utter some mystical phrases about his concern for better roads and the need to do more.

This may even be followed by a finale where he releases several million dollars more just a few weeks before election. Applause, applause.

It will be a great performance for children and anyone with a memory of less than a month. Because our chief administrator just recently took $10 million out of the Road Fund, vetoed $23 million of Southern Illinois road projects, and simply failed to spend $35 million of the Department of Transportation's budget.

That total $68 million. And he wants credit for putting back $7 million. He should receive a medal for nerve.

This is no simple parlor trick. This is a major stage production complete with assistants and smoke screens.

A chorus of sympathetic editors will blame selected legislators for not increasing the gasoline tax so there would be more road money. Sen. Gene Johns, D-Marion, and Rep. Jim Rea, D-Christopher, have already been singled out and there will be others.

The assumption is that if more money were appropriated for roads, more money would be spent on roads. Sounds simple, but it's not true.

From 1975 through 1981, $801 million that the General Assembly earmarked for Illinois roads was spent on the secretary of state's office, the Department of Law Enforcement and other non-construction purposes.

In the past decade, close to a billion dollars of road money has been spent on things other than roads. Bump. Bump.

This spectacular comes complete with stogees in the audience. No great showman can be without them.

The governor's powers to drain the Road Fund were increased recently by passage of SB 423 and HB 2504. On cue, Rep. Celeste Stethi, R-Belleview, Wayne Aikat, R-Maryborough, and C. L. McCormick, R-Vienna, stood up to support Thompson.

In the Senate, the men those Republicans are running against, Senators Kenneth Hall, D-St. Louis, Kenneth R. Burbee, R-Carbondale, and Gene Johns, D-Marion, voted to have road fund money spent on roads.

It'll be a good show and the people doing it are good at this sort of thing. They've had some great successes in the past.

However, there was another Illinoisan who once said, "You can fool some of the people some of the time . . . but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

This may be the time when a majority of the people are not fooled.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS LABOR TRIBUNE

Says law enforcement is lax in her village

To the Editor:

I have been reading in the Forum about harassments and law enforcement in Pontoon Beach.

I also live in Pontoon Beach and have for quite a few years.

I have my first time to see any law enforcement carried out.

No wonder so many teenagers and hoodlums Or they will say, "We can't do anything about it," and drive off.

We, the decent people, can call the police and they will come. Then, after hearing what you have to say, they will say, "What do you want us to do about it?"

Or they will say, "We can't do anything about it," and drive off.

The people who are doing the harassment just stand and laugh at you as much as to say they had made a fool out of you.

I am moving away before too long, because there is no law enforcement in Pontoon Beach. They are only for their friends.

PONTON RESIDENT

Who you know, not qualifications, prevail

To the Editor:

Regarding the Sept. 23 Press-Record editorial, "Metro's Hiring Procedures Unfair," The Granite City community has turned into a family business.

If you run a check on this, not only is the Metro-East

Sanitary District father and son run, but we have a father and son police force, and a father and son fire department.

A father is an alderman and his son is a policeman, and the list goes on. The facts are:

If Dad is a politician, then his relation or, at least, his son is entitled to special treatment in securing a job.

This is regardless of who really is better qualified for the job.

I wonder what the Equal Opportunity Commission would do about this? That is, if they aren't related to anyone.

Please do not print my name because I live in Granite City and am trying to find a job. Even if it's only $5 an hour.

E. GRANITE RESIDENT

Thinks treatment employees are overpaid

To the Editor:

An article entitled "Open Bids to Study Staffing" appeared on Sept. 16 in your paper. It concerned the amount of employees needed to operate the Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Perhaps an eye should be directed not to how many but to "how much."

According to the Press-Record, the salary of at least one sewage department employee has jumped $5,295 in two years. That is $2,647 per year.

It is probably safe to assume that all sewage plant employees have moved up higher on the hog."

There are many people in this town relying on food stamps in order to "have" sewage treated and depend on Supervisor Nelson Hagnau's office for necessities.

Senior citizens, people on fixed incomes, people with little or no income — we are the people who will be hurt by increasing sewage plant rates.

Mayor Schuler has gone on record as opposing any increase over $4.50 per quarter. How glib of him, since his salary has only gone up $7,983 in two years. That's $3,790 per year.

Can he manage on that? Or must property taxes go even higher so he can pay his sewage bill?

"If a licensee wants a wall certificate, he or she should return the application with a $10 fee. Processing time will be six to eight weeks."

The 8 1/2 x 11 inch certificates will be laser-imaged

4 interviews for waste plant study

BY GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

Four firms will be interviewed in an effort to select a neutral party to perform a Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant manning and equipment review. The review is needed before the City Council will consider hiking sewage treatment fees.

The interviews are expected to be held some time this week. The aldermanic treatment plant committee met Thursday afternoon to agree on the exact nature of the study.

Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk, chairman of the committee, said the study should not be difficult to perform except for the controversial manning portion. The aldermen want a "third party" opinion on the number of plant employees required.

"The council seems to be shaky on any kind of a fee increase" prior to a study of plant operations, Fisk said. "We want as accurate a picture as possible."

That apparently will include a look at the contract of the operating engineers at the plant. The alderman said he has discussed the overall study with the employees' union business agent, "and they want it," Fisk said.

The current sewage treatment billing charge for Granite City residents is $13 per quarter. Increases range from $4.50 to $9 more per quarter have been suggested by various officials, before the study was approved.

In July, the council defeated a series of proposed rate hikes, coupled with staff layoffs. However, the aldermen supported a compromise proposal to have an independent firm determine the efficiency of current operations.

The study was originally to have been done by Environmental Protection Agency forms. Instead, aldermen met Thursday to narrow their field of questions in an effort to be more precise and cut study costs.

The firm will be asked if the present staffing number is adequate, below or above the plant's needs.

The four engineering firms invited to give their proposals for the project are CH2M-Hill, Black and Veatch, and Sverdrup and Parcel & Associates, all of St. Louis, and CRS Group Engineers, Urbana, Ill.

Another priority of the study will be to determine if money is being spent wisely on maintenance. The engineers will learn the condition of the equipment and estimate how soon it should be replaced.

Plant Superintendent Terrence McMillan says the plant's primary equipment has been in constant use for 17 years, and maintenance costs have risen steadily.

The equipment will continue to deteriorate until replaced, he said.

"The firm needs to take an inventory of the equipment," Fisk agreed.

McMillan suggested a multiple-year replacement program, and called the inventory idea a "positive approach" to the wastewater plant survey.

Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadian, a committee member, said the city now has capable members of its staff to give the council the information needed on the status of the plant's equipment.

"We're not paying attention to some dedicated employees out there," he commented.

Operations also will be examined for efficiency, taking into account that the regional plant was designed for a larger geographic area and treatment volume than it currently serves.

McMillan said one of his first projects will be to "become a superintendent" to "take down a portion of the plant." "I had taken half the plant out of operation by early 1981," he said.

Since then, McMillan added, operations have been on "an even lower scale. He said he is known throughout the state for his ability to scale down wastewater plant operations.

In addition to McMillan and Alderman Fisk and Varadian, attending the meeting were Fourth Ward Alderman Warren Detatur, City Engineer Monroe Brewer and City Treasurer Nick Petrillo.

20 charges follow chase, two crashes

An alleged theft at a local liquor store and a chase at speeds up to 90 miles per hour led to 20 charges.

Three, plus two accidents, one involving a Granite City police car, ended with the arrest of a woman driver and her male passenger at 4:15 p.m. Saturday.

The driver, who identified herself Sunday as Sheron Thompson, 30, East St. Louis, was booked on 17 different Granite City charges, 14 involving traffic violations — and on three charges by Madison police. Neither Miss Thompson nor her passenger, Willie Dean, 40, St. Louis, who faces two charges, had identification.

The chase began when the vehicle, allegedly traveling north on Nameok Road at high speed, struck a car at the intersection of Black, 3315 Wilshire Drive.

He was turning north onto Nameok Road from the Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center at Market Avenue. Witnesses said she ran a red light and Black unsuccessfully tried to avoid a collision by driving toward the curb and sidewalk. The left side of the Thompson car hit the right side of his vehicle, with Miss Thompson continuing on.

A few seconds before the crash, a police officer at Nameok and Garfield Avenue received a radio dispatch that a shoplifting had occurred at Corral Lumber, 3301 Market Avenue.

He saw the Thompson vehicle and its occupants, which matched the description being broadcast, heading north.

When the driver saw the squad car, she allegedly accelerated, weaving in and out of traffic and striking the other auto at Market. Her vehicle turned left onto West Pontoon Road, passing through traffic signal lights, and speeds of 65 mph were attained on W. Pontoon, the officer said.

The driver allegedly failed to halt at stop signs at Missouri Avenue and Route 3, almost causing collisions with other vehicles at the intersection.

The fleeing car continued west to Chouteau Slough Road, turned south to Rock Road and then returned to Route 3, going south.

Estimated speeds of up to 95 mph. When he drew close to the vehicle, now traveling close to 100 mph, the officer in pursuit alleged the fleeing driver attempted to force the squad car into the median.

A few moments later when he was about to overtake the car, the driver tried to force his vehicle into the concrete divider wall located on Route 3 south of Niedringhaus Avenue, he alleged.

About the same time, a roadblock made up of police officers from Madison, Venice, Madison County and the Illinois secretary of state's office became visible on Route 3 at Bissell Street, the officer said, and he alerted the other officers.

Both suspects were booked on charges of theft and retail theft.

Granite City police also roadblock, the officer overtook the fleeing car and turned sideways in front of the suspect.

Before he could alight from his car, however, the woman made a U turn, hitting the concrete divider and moved north on Route 3 in the southbound lanes.

A second police officer following the pursuit and traveling south a short distance back, saw the Thompson auto approaching.

Although the officer braked and skidded his car to prevent an accident, the woman's car and the second in pursuit collided, both sustaining damage.

The two occupants were arrested and several items, including the vehicle were confiscated.

At Corral Liquors, an employee alleged seeing a woman place several bottles of liquor in the pocket of a white smock. He alerted the manager. A man accompanying the woman purchased cigarettes and the officer in a brown auto, the manager said.

Allegedly found in the auto were five liter bottles of cognac valued at $22 each and a bottle of cognac worth $15. Bottles of men's cologne and other items were in the car.

One of the cologne bottles had a Reese Drugs price tag attached and a theft complaint was signed. Price tags had been removed from the remaining bottles.

Both suspects were booked on charges of theft and retail theft.

Granite City police also charged Miss Thompson with fleeing and attempting to elude police, giving a valid driver's license, failing to give information at the scene of an accident, leaving the scene of an accident with vehicle damage, speeding 5 mph in a 55 zone and speeding 65 in a 40 zone, two counts of disobeying a traffic signal light, disobeying a red signal light, reckless conduct and five counts of disobeying a stop sign.

Madison police charged Miss Thompson with not having a valid license, reckless driving and driving in an improper lane.

At 8:50 p.m. Saturday, Dean was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of blood pressure and then was returned to jail. Both he and Miss Thompson in custody Sunday.

A brief graveside service will be conducted by the Rev. Wilbur L. Lewis, pastor of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church. Friends and acquaintances are welcome to attend the service.

Warrior kickers defeat Althoff, Quincy; now 10-2

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City High School South Warrior soccer team picked up two important victories over the weekend. Friday, the Warriors defeated Gateway East Conference rival Belleville Althoff 3-0, and Saturday defeated visiting Quincy Senior 3-0.

The Quincy victory was especially satisfying for Warrior coach Gene Baker and his kickers because the Blue Devils are rated third in Illinois in the Chicago Sting High School Newsletter, a weekly update on prep soccer standings. The Warriors, for the third consecutive week, are rated first in both the writers' and coaches' polls. Quincy is rated sixth in the coaches' poll.

"It was a good victory (against Quincy) for us," Baker said. "We had hoped to shut them out, but Quincy's got some strong players."

Saturday, against Quincy, things began a little slower than coach Baker would have liked.

"We were off at first," Baker said. "I don't know if we were nervous or what... we weren't talking to each other out there," he said.

In the early going, the Warriors were silent. Because of their silence, their passing game suffered.

Following individual scoring attempts by Warrior Bill Hency and Quincy speedster Roger Wilson, each of which failed, the Warriors awakened. At the 11:40 mark in the first quarter, Warriors bombarded the Quincy goal. It was a lesson in aggressive soccer. Fritz Brewer, South's little dynamo, passed to Nathan Crane in front. That shot was wide. Ed Cowley, who substituted for Popmarkoff, was in for seconds before his attempted shot went just wide to the right.

Granite South Warriors

following a Blue Devil missed penalty kick that just went wide, the Warriors put their passing game together. With 7:52 remaining in the first quarter, just 28 seconds after the Quincy penalty kick, Phil Popmarkoff scored on a pass from John Menendez.

The goal was just what South needed to relieve the pressure. After Popmarkoff's goal, "broke the ice," the Warrior game clicked. South's passing and ball control improved.

For the remaining minutes of the first quarter and the half for that matter, the

Prior to Popmarkoff's goal, shots on goal were even at one. However, after the Warriors took the lead they out shot their northern opponents 16 to two in the first half.

The Warriors tagged the Blue Devil goalie Jim Bruce for two goals in the second quarter before the flurry of Warrior shots lessened.

With 5:30 into the second quarter Sam Mendoza scored on a pass from Ed Cowley for South's second goal.

South's third and final goal came just two minutes and 18 seconds later. Prior to South's final tally play in front of the Quincy goal was continuous.

The win adjusts the jayvee Warrior record to 9-2. The junior varsity, like their varsity counterparts, lost to both Bishop DuBourg and St. Mary's.

Jayvee coach Mel Bunting said his team was "very pleased" with his team's performance.

"I'm real happy with the kids today," Bunting said. "Anytime you play this well against a team like Quincy you've got to feel good. We shut them out. That's the ultimate compliment to a team's defense."

Bunting praised Houston, Chris Kahn, and Mike Sikora for their play.

This Saturday, Oct. 2, the both teams travel to Quincy to take on the Raiders.

Jayvees down Quincy

As if to predict the outcome of the varsity game that followed, the jayvee Warrior soccer team defeated Quincy Senior 4-0 Saturday.

South jumped on top in the first quarter as Frank Soellner scored the Warrior's first goal with only 1:59 into the game.

South's Mike Houston gave the Warriors their second goal at 27:45.

Soellner picked up his second goal of the game in the third quarter as he booted a hand ball penalty kick in 57:05 into the contest.

The Warriors fourth and final goal of the game came in the fourth quarter at 71:22. South's Brett Scrum scored. Soellner assisted.

QUINCY GOES DOWN. Phil Popmarkoff, of Granite South, stops himself from going for the ball after a Quincy Senior High player fell during the game Saturday. Dan Pearn, left, of Quincy takes the ball, but South took the game, 3-0. Popmarkoff scored the first Warrior goal on an assist from John Menendez. The loss was the worst for Quincy this season.

Sooner or later Quincy would yield yet another. The shots were there. One shot, a Quincy defender broke it up. Another shot... it was headed high in front of the goal. Another shot... deflected. Finally, South's Phil Harizan settled the ball and passed to Crane. This time it was different. Crane beat Bruce in the corner. South led 3-0.

Even when South was leading 3-0, the game was intensely physical. Quincy has talent. A South let up could have been disastrous.

Despite the physical nature of the game—the intensity and importance of the game—both teams were well behaved.

However, there were three yellow cards issued—all of which were issued to Quincy—for verbal infractions.

The first yellow card was issued to Craig McNay with 10:51 remaining in the second quarter. The second was issued to Quincy's Wilson with 24 seconds in the third quarter and the final was issued to the Blue Devils' Bruner with 10:41 remaining in the final quarter.

South's victory was Quincy's second loss of the season. The Blue Devils' record now stands at 5-2-1. Quincy senior lost to Quincy Notre Dame 1-0, which was somewhat of an upset.

South's victory was Quincy's second loss of the season. The Blue Devils' record now stands at 5-2-1. Quincy senior lost to Quincy Notre Dame 1-0, which was somewhat of an upset. Their tie game was against Collinsville. Both teams kicked to an even 1-1 game. Quincy head coach Dick Stewart said he was not surprised by the outcome of Blue Devil-Warrior game.

"No, I'm not surprised with outcome of the game. South's a good team," Stewart said. "I will say that I was surprised by the shutout. Coming down here I thought we'd need three goals to win. I didn't dream that they'd shut us out."

"South evidently came to play today," Stewart said. "We looked as though we didn't even know how to play the game. The ratings? That's something else," Stewart said. "I don't even think we should be rated."

The Warriors, however, should be a cinch to secure their top rating with their victory over Quincy. So far, the Warriors, 10-2, are undefeated against Illinois teams. Both of South's losses came against Missouri teams: Bishop DuBourg (3-0) and St. Mary's (1-0).

DePew kicks Steelers to 3-0 win over Mascoutah

By ROGER KRAMER
Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — How can a football team averaging only one point a game win a game? Just ask the Granite City North Steelers.

After Darren DePew's 22-yard field goal gave North a 3-0 nonconference win over Mascoutah Friday, the Steelers have scored three points in three games this season. North was shut out in its two previous games.

The reason why North is 1-2 going into conference play is because of its defense. After giving up 28 points in the opener to Roxana, the Steelers gave up three points to Collinsville. North's defense is giving up just 10.3 points a game.

It is no wonder why North coach Tom Wyrostek was encouraged by the defense. To add to his glee, the Steelers shut out a team which defeated Roxana the week before.

"We must have improved because our defense shut out a team that beat Roxana. The defense showed a lot of improvement since the first game, and they played with a lot of intensity," Wyrostek said.

The defense needed to play with a lot of intensity against the Indians because Mascoutah had a tough defense too. In fact, the Steeler offense could only put together one series with more than two first downs.

North took advantage of that sustained series for the only score of the game. A pass interference call against the Indians and the Steelers' running game gave North first-and-goal on Mascoutah's five yard line.

North's Al Prengal carried the ball twice and could only gain a yard. Barry Watson's third down run failed to move North any closer, so DePew was called on for the field goal.

DePew did not play at fullback because he is recovering from a sprained ankle suffered during the preseason and from a hip injury he suffered in the Collinsville game. However, he was healthy enough to do the punting and place-kicking.

DePew kicked the ball high over the goal post. It was so high that an official under the goal post could not tell whether the kick was inside the right goal post. However, the referee ruled the kick was good.

Mascoutah coach Fred von der Linden wasn't sure whether the field goal was good or not.

"He kicked the ball so hard and high that it was very difficult for me to see whether it was good or not. I couldn't really tell from the sidelines whether it was wide or not," von der Linden said. Even though the Steelers still couldn't do much offensively, the defense made up for the offense's lack of production.

Early in the second quarter, the Indians used a mix of running and passing to move from their 26 to North's 13. Damon Bishop recovered his own fumble and lost four yards, and then junior linebacker Jon Sleka intercepted quarterback Rob Flanagan's pass at the eight to end that drive.

"I thought Sleka played an outstanding game... All of our defensive people played well."

Tom Wyrostek
Steeler football coach

"I thought Sleka played an outstanding game," Wyrostek said. "All of our defensive people played well."

North's defense shone in the fourth quarter after DePew's field goal. Two plays after the score, Bob Quick intercepted a pass and returned it 49 yards to Mascoutah's six yard line. But again, North couldn't move the ball past the three yard line on third down.

On fourth down, quarterback Shane Cole pitched the ball to Watson who tried to pass to John Kindle at the corner of the end zone. Watson didn't see the tight end that was open in the end zone and threw a low pass to Kindle. The pass was incomplete.

North regained possession after forcing three straight incomplete passes. The Steelers couldn't get a drive going on the next series and punted back to Mascoutah.

The Indians scared the Steelers fans by completing a 50-yard pass play from Flanagan to Bishop. Two illegal procedure penalties sandwiched between an eight yard pass play hurt Mascoutah. The Steeler defense forced two more incompletions to give the ball to North.

Although North didn't get a first down on that series, they forced Mascoutah to use all three of its time outs, giving the Indians 21 seconds to score.

Flanagan passed to John Glinwright for 17 yards and to Ronnie Lindsay for 12 yards to put the Indians on North's 36 with six seconds to play.

On the final play, Flanagan scrambled to find an open receiver, but linebacker John Morris grabbed Flanagan's jersey. Flanagan could only do two things—go down or try a "Hail Mary" pass.

Flanagan went for the pass, but Morris pulled him down as he was passing. The ball went high and short of any intended receiver, and the game was over. Mascoutah knew that North didn't protect against the pass well against Roxana, so that was von der Linden's strategy.

Wyrostek was ready for Mascoutah to use the pass and used a defense North hadn't used before. The Steelers rushed four linemen in and used seven players to defend against the pass.

"We knew they would try to pass, and we wanted to cover their receivers. I was pleased with our coverage. We made a few mistakes, but the kids corrected their mistakes and made some good plays," Wyrostek said.

Mascoutah missed a golden opportunity to score in the second quarter when Randy Green bobbled a pass at North's 15 and didn't gain control until he landed out of bound to the right of the end zone.

"We had a couple of close calls which really hurt us," von der Linden said. "I wasn't sure that Green was out of bounds when he caught it."

North opens Gateway East Conference play Saturday with Belleville Althoff at the Belleville West football field. Game time is 8 p.m.

ALTON — Bob Kehoe, Granite City North's soccer coach, doesn't know why he has to sing the same song over and over again.

Alton defeated the Steelers 1-0 in the second overtime in a non-conference game at Gordon Moore Park, and Kehoe put the blame on the factor which has plagued the Steelers this season: Teamwork, or rather the lack of it.

"I'm baffled. I can't explain the reason why we can't work as a team. Some of our players have given us some good team play, and others are disoriented. It's like having a brand new team out there each game," Kehoe said.

The Steelers showed last Monday in its 4-0 win over Pattonville that it could work as a team, but North went back to old ways against Alton. Instead of passing and looking for a good shot, the Steelers forced play up the middle with few passes.

"We've got considerable talent on this team, and we seemed to make things work Monday, but we don't seem to want to work and look for the open person," Kehoe said.

On the other hand, Alton was alert when it needed to be and picked up the only goal of the game.

The officials called a foul on the Steelers near their goal with 2:36 left in the second overtime. Instead of waiting for North to set up its defense, Alton's Jeff Juhlin quickly kicked the indirect free kick to Steve St. Cin, who drilled the ball in the goal.

"They did a smart thing and didn't wait us to set up," Kehoe said. "They just made a good play on the ball."

On the other hand, the Steelers missed two perfect opportunities to win the game in overtime.

The first came in the first overtime. Forward Brian Levin drove toward the goal and Alton goalie Matt Mormino went after him. Levin didn't see Steve Trittschuh wide open in front of the net and took the shot himself. Mormino made the stop.

"I'll be perfectly honest. It's my opinion that Alton should have won by more than 1-0. They beat us to the ball all night. They had a lot more teamwork than we did," Kehoe said.

At times, the Steeler defense showed signs of brilliance.

For instance, with 1:10 left in the first overtime, North goalie Rich Branding was forced to go out to block an Alton shot, but St. Cin picked up the rebound.

North's Colin Davis moved in front of the goal and kicked the shot away.

A game like this one brought out some frustration on North's part. No arguments or fights broke out, but some of North's players complained to Kehoe about the officiating.

"Some of the players tried to lay the blame on the loss on the officials. I told them I wasn't sure whether they weren't good, but I said I was sure that they put a ball in the goal once and we didn't put a ball in the goal," Kehoe said.

Warriors score TD, but fail to Edwardsville 35-8

By STEVE ROTSCHE

EDWARDSVILLE — The Granite City South Warrior's lost, 35-8, to the Edwardsville Tigers Friday because of the Tigers' speed and experience, according to South's coach Jerry McKechnan.

"You can't beat speed with no speed," McKechnan lamented. Speed was the major factor in Edwardsville's five touchdowns, four of them on long runs.

Edwardsville coach Richard Ford also felt that his team's speed was the main factor for the victory. But Ford admitted that his team did have problems with the Warrior's defense.

"It was difficult to figure out their defense," Ford said. "We couldn't understand how they were shifting."

The fact that the Tigers did not have a sustained drive all night attests to that fact.

For most of the first quarter both teams were moving the ball but then would faller near midfield.

But, Edwardsville's first score was an omen of things to come.

Late in the first quarter Tiger quarterback Wendall Brown ran to his right on an option pass play. The Warriors defensive line broke through and had him in their grasps but he whirled free, eluded another would-be tackler and tipped down the side line 42 yards for the touchdown.

Even without a sustained drive the Tigers were able to score four more times.

In the second quarter Kurt Atkins leaped into the end zone for the Tiger's second score. In the third quarter Jeff Krebs swept around the left side and ran 31 yards for their next score even though he had to run over a defensive back waiting for him on the four yard line.

The Tiger's fourth score came on a quarterback option, Brown pitched to Todd Spiller who raced 80 yards for a touchdown to shock the Warriors.

Late in the fourth quarter Linhart was knocked out of the game with a leg injury after being bounded by the Tiger defense all night. His replacement was wide receiver Tom Adamitis.

Although Adamitis was the sophomore quarterback last year, he was ill prepared Friday's signal calling duties because he hadn't taken a snap from center all season.

Ordinarily, the Warriors' backup quarterback, Henry Brown, would have replaced Linhart, but he was hurt early in the game when he was hit trying to return a punt. Brown watched the rest of the game from the bench with an ice bag resting on his ankle.

But, Adamitis lead the Warriors with a basic running attack which, aimed at the Edwardsville line, proved very effective.

The Warriors drove from midfield to the one where Don Hammond plunged over for Granite City South's first score of the season. The two-point conversion was good.

McKechnan was quick to point out that the score came against the Tiger's second team but he was still pleased with the score. The Warrior coach has been frustrated by his team's incapability to score prior to Friday's contest.

The Warriors at one point in the game had the ball on Tiger's six yard line with four downs to score. One of Linhart's passes hit a receiver, standing in the end zone, in the hands and he didn't hold on to it.

"It was frustrating but you have to expect things like that from 17-year-olds," McKechnan said.

North grads on Sauk Valley soccer team

Ron Rowden and Jeff Sharp have helped to shape the Sauk Valley College (Dixon, Illinois) soccer team in its initial intercollegiate season. Both are 1981 graduates of Granite City High School North and former players for the Steelers.

Rowden playing both midfield and forward on the Sauk team has been named captain of the Redmen. Sauk Valley College has named Rowden — player of the week for his play against Beloit College, Wisconsin. Sauk lost 4-1.

Sharp was named defensive player of the week for his play against Wheaton College, another four year college, from the Chicago suburbs Sharp made eight saves in a game that saw Wheaton win by a score of 3-0.

Correction

There were two inaccuracies in last Monday's Press-Record sports section. The first occurred in the headline of the Granite City North vs. Hazelwood Central soccer story; the other in the Granite City North vs. Collinsville football story.

In the Steeler soccer story, it incorrectly mentions the score of the game was 4-2. However, the accompanying headline read: "Steeler kickers fail to Hazelwood Central 4-0." There is no excuse for the misinformation headline, only to say it was written moments before press time. There we might add, another soccer story that, like the Steeler game, occurred on Saturday and did have a final outcome of 4-0.

The other inaccuracy, in the Steeler-Collinsville football game, read "...Collinsville defensive Keith Ellis intercepted one of (Shane) Cole's

MHC boxing practice to resume tonight

The Mexican Honorary Commission Boxing team has had some difficulty in securing a place to practice. Consequently, the practices announced last week had to be cancelled.

The club was to begin practice last Wednesday at the Lincoln Place Community Center located at Niedringhaus and Maple Streets. But because the building was "not ready," the boxing club had to cancel its practice. Practices, however, will begin this Monday, Sept. 27, at the Lincoln Place Community Center, said Merco Mendoza, coach of the boxing team.

Mendoza welcomes all interested persons (seven years and older) to attend the club's first practice. Interested persons should bring hand wraps as well as a mouthpiece to the practice. Practices begin at 7 p.m.

Pioneer gridders kavo Trojans 29-0; Madison 0-2

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

EAST ST. LOUIS.—Speed was the reason East St. Louis Assumption defeated Madison 29-0 here in a Quad-City Conference, football game Saturday.

Speed was the reason Assumption gained 189 yards rushing and 103 yards passing while Madison could only pick up 76 yards rushing and three yards passing.

Speed was the reason Madison quarterback Victor Valentine was sacked six times and lost 27 yards while Assumption quarterback Terrance Anthony was sacked only three times and lost only 11 yards.

No one should be more of an expert on the importance of speed than Assumption coach Jim Monken, who has been blessed with speed throughout the years.

"Our athletes have more overall speed than any of the schools in our conference," Monken said. "Most schools have just one or two good runners, but we've got speed at every position."

Madison Trojans

Both Monken and Madison coach Al Vonderhaar agreed speed was the main reason Assumption won so easily, and both agreed the difference was Assumption superior speed in the line.

"Having speed on the defensive line makes the whole defense much different. It improves our angle pursuit because you can go at more angles," Monken said.

Vonderhaar said: "They beat us on the line. If we got a goal right now, it to run the football well, and the key to a good running game is to get off the line. We're not blocking them, and our running game wasn't going."

Assumption's speed was evident early in the game. The Pioneers used eight running plays to move the ball 64 yards for a touchdown on the Pioneer's first possession. Sophomore running back Larry Stricklin scored the touchdown, a nine yard run.

Madison fumbled the kickoff back to the Pioneers. Two plays later, Stricklin broke through the middle and ran 31 yards for the touchdown.

Early in the second quarter, Anthony hit Kevin Smith for a 46-yard pass play from Assumption's 49 to the Madison five. Stricklin scored his third touchdown with a three-yard run two plays later.

William Morrell added a 26-yard field goal from a sharp angle from the right of the goal post. Before the Trojans could recover from Assumption's speed attack, the Pioneers led 29-0.

"We stunk up the place," Vonderhaar said. "They did everything I told the players they would do, I thought they were listening to us, but they came to the bench and acted surprised Assumption did what they did."

"It looked like we got a lot of lip service from them during practice last week because they didn't do what we told them to do. We had a super week of practice, but it didn't hold through to the game," Vonderhaar said.

The Trojan defense did toughen up in the second half, partially because they figured out how to stop the Pioneers and partially because the Pioneers wanted to try out their passing game.

"We wanted to work on our passing game because we want to carry it out to balance our running game. I think we learned some things in the game," Monken said.

Assumption made only four of 11 passes in the game, but the Pioneers completed two of seven in the second half.

The only second half touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Todd Stewart ran 31 yards for a touchdown.

"I thought we started to play a little defense in the second half," Vonderhaar said. "We knew what they could do, and their line blocking was extremely good. They got a lot of big kids and good quickness, and we couldn't stop them in the first half."

Vonderhaar thought some of problems were indirectly related to the fact none of the seniors have played on a winning team.

"We've only had four victories in two years, and we didn't have a winning team their freshman, sophomore or junior years. It's tough to create a winning attitude under those circumstances, but we hope to instill it with the younger boys," Vonderhaar said.

Monken didn't take the Trojans lightly either. "They have a quick team, and we were worried about them," Monken said. "They're one of the few teams who can come close to us in speed year after year, and they're doing a good job of putting their program back together."

Madison, 0-2 for the season and in the conference, plays at Columbia Saturday at 1 p.m.

Warrior girls, Steeler boys fare well at SIUE meet

By STEVE ROTSCH
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE.—The Granite City North varsity boys' cross country squad placed third and the South girls finished fourth at the Edwardsville Cross Country Invitational held Saturday at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

The competition was exceptional at the meet according to Granite City North coach, Pete Robinson and South coach, Rich Harmon, especially their statements on the fact that each race was run in record time.

East St. Louis Lincoln and Hazelwood Central's varsity boys tied with 77 points, but first place went to Lincoln because of their sixth runner's 30th place finish compared to Central's sixth man's 50th place. The Steelers finished a distant third with 144 points.

The Warriors' boys finished a disappointing 13th with 370 points.

The Belleville varsity girls took first place with 66 points. O'Fallon was second with 88, East St. Louis Lincoln was third with 127 and Granite City South was fourth with 141.

The girls finished 13th with 320 points.

Twenty-three area schools were represented at the meet and over 400 runners competed in the five races, beginning with the sophomore boys' three mile race at 10 a.m., varsity boys at 10:30, freshman boys at 11, girls at 11:20, and junior high school boys at 11:40.

According to South's coach, Harmon, his team is capable of a better showing and North's coach, Robinson, echoed the same feelings about his team's showing.

The Warrior varsity boys finished a disappointing 13th and the girls finished fourth. South's girls are rated second in the area but Saturday their number two runner, Mary Bisch, did not compete and Harmon said it was a factor in their score. But Harmon was quite pleased by the eighth place finish of Michelle Shoemaker.

"Michelle ran really well, but I think we're capable of better. We just had an off-day as a team. Watch out when we put it all together."

Robinson also was not pleased with his team's effort, but he attributed some of the problem to Jim Robertson's recent bout with bronchitis. Kenny Meyers was slowed by a sore calf muscle and Jon Peters has a bad knee.

His team is hurting bad enough that he had to use two sophomores to fill the varsity squad. In turn, that left his sophomore squad short.

But Robinson didn't use the bronchitis as an excuse. "I just didn't run my own race. I went out too fast, but I had to keep up with the whole

Lincoln team."

Lincoln's Dedrick Flowers took first place in the varsity boy's race by shattering the old meet record of 15:10 by 12 seconds with a time of 14:38. His teammate, Andre Mattox was only four seconds off a record pace with his time of 15:14.

Collinsville's Pam Quarengi set the varsity girls' record in the meet with a time of 11:43. Hazelwood Central's Plunkett set the sophomore boy's record with his time of 16:05.

Cougar kickers rally; shut out Louisiana 8-0

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record

EDWARDSVILLE.—The members of the Northern Louisiana University soccer team in Indiana, prior to Sunday's (yesterday) NCAA Division I clash here, against a top-ranked nationally, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, had "upset" on their collective minds.

After all, the soccer eleven from Monroe, La., were riding a 10-game winning streak, going back to last year's campaign and going into their important inter-sectional clash with the SIUE Cougars, were riding high with a seven-game victory streak.

However, Coach Bob Guetler's SIUE force had other ideas. The Cougars, who had vaulted to No. 1 in the United States just last week, were limping with a two-game losing streak, having lost to the Clemson U. Tigers and the Indiana U. Hoosiers in their last two outings. Neither, of course, were games which should make the Cougars ashamed.

But, to be very truthful, the Cougars needed a victory... and an impressive one at that, if they were to regain their high ranking quickly in the national poll.

Some stinking with rapier-like swiftness, the Cougars took out their frustrations on the visitors from Louisiana, scoring with "chilling suddenness" at 1:02 into the game when Dan O'Leary, their striker, took a pass from Tim Laughtman and blasted in the game's first goal.

Ten minutes later, in a 9-0 victory for the Cougars, which quickly and overwhelmingly closed out the game when the Indians of Northeast Louisiana may have had of registering an upset over SIUE.

The Cougars in the first half may have demoralized the visitors from Cajun Land, but didn't as Coach "Jim" Guetler's charges gallantly battled desperately to get back into the game.

The number one player in that vain effort came from Louisiana's Marty Buckmeier, a six-foot, 162-pound native of Richardson, Texas, who scored 21 goals and has 12 assists for the Indians last year. He and Giles Malone, Mohammad Ghazizadeh, Tommy Miller and Jim Fry never quit trying to get back in the game.

In fact, the visitors from Cajun Land had had another reason to take: they could have accepted the fact that they were headed for a loss and played to keep the score down. But, they didn't, much to their credit.

However, the pressure was just too much for their baffled goal keeper, Tom Cooper. In the utter futility of the situation going into the second half, the Cougars again applied overwhelming pressure and, in desperation, as Dan Malloy bore in toward a sure goal, Cooper simply reached out and pulled the charging Malloy down to the turf.

The official had no other choice but to eject him from the game on a red card and the Indians were forced to play one player short for the game's final 38 minutes.

Malloy's penalty kick promptly made the score 4-0 in favor of the Cougars and the rout was truly on.

Prior to that goal, however, Bill Stallings and Tim Loughman had extended the Cougars' lead to 3-0 at the intermission.

Then, in quick order, the gauvin cousins, learned to score. Steve hit Mike for the game's fifth score at 66:02. Just seconds later, Greg Fleher scored unassisted at 67:05.

By this time, the Indians were almost in complete disarray as Greg Guempel took a pass from Bruce Bellenger and made the score, 7-0.

The most popular goal for the entire game was the final one, a beautiful shot by Steve Schell at 83:44. It was Schell's first goal in two seasons. Or, since he was injured midway through the season three years ago. The crowd gave Schell a huge ovation.

The game's statistics tell graphically just how much the Cougars dominated the game:

Shots — Northeast seven, SIUE a whopping 35.

Corner kicks — Northeast two, SIUE an even eleven.

Fouls — Northeast had 13 called on it while the Cougars were committing 21.

Saves — Ed Gettemeier made just two in the first half and then he gave way to substitute Dave Capettes, who made eight the frantic second half when Bob Guetler put everyone into the game except himself and his assistant, Tom Howe.

This coming Friday and Saturday, the Cougars will host the Illinois Governor's Cup Tournament.

Friday, at 5:30 p.m., defending champion Eastern Illinois will battle it out with Western Illinois U., and then, at 7:30, the host SIUE kickers will trade blows with the Northern Illinois Huskies. The winners will play Saturday night to decide the championship at 7:30 p.m.

"I've been with Shell 28 years and lived in Hamel all my life. Both are as safe from fire as I can make them."

LeRoy Langendorf

Shell salutes LeRoy for his dedication to fire safety at work and in his community.

Fire protection comes first with LeRoy Langendorf. He's a Senior Safety Inspector at the Safety and Industrial Hygiene Department of the Wood River Manufacturing Complex. He's also Fire Chief of the Hamel, Illinois, Volunteer Fire Department. "Like it or not, fire is always a possibility — at work because we refine the raw materials to make products like gasoline, heating oil and petrochemicals; at home because of smoking, electrical shorts, improperly used appliances, etc."

LeRoy makes sure his fire crew members are trained in all aspects of industrial firefighting, especially in the areas of refining and chemical manufacturing. He also trains the operating and maintenance personnel to effectively handle fire extinguishers, water hoses and so forth.

That's not all the training LeRoy does. He instructs the Hamel Fire Department Volunteers and teaches his local community about fire safety. "The more people understand fire safety, the more careful they are."

Thanks to LeRoy, Shell's Wood River Complex and Hamel are safer places to live and work.

Chorale rehearsals starting

Home from a European tour during which the Concert Chorale of SIUE took third place in international competition in Llangollen, Wales, Leonard Van Camp, director, says he is ready to begin another successful season.

"We have an exciting group of concertists and tours planned for the Chorale and will have a full range of activities for the Community Choral Society and the University Chorus as well," Van Camp said.

The Chorale, open by audition only, still has openings in most sections. "I'm always willing to listen to potential singers," he said, adding that he is aware there is much talent on the campus and in the community that is yet to be explored.

The University Chorus is open to students enrolled in classes at the University who enjoy singing and want to improve their musicianship. Members of the chorus take part in three concerts during the academic school year.

The chorus meets Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10:30 a.m. Students receive academic credit for their participation in the course, University Chorus (MUS 144).

The Community Choral Society also welcomes members. Participation is open without audition. "People in this group usually have some previous choral experience and at least a modest ability to read music," Van Camp said.

The Society will perform "The Christmas Oratorio" of Camille St. Saens, Dec. 5 at Eden Retirement Village in a concert which will also feature the Chorale and Chorus.

The Choral Society will begin rehearsals tomorrow in Room 1029 of Peck Classroom Building.

Members of the community and SIUE students are encouraged to become a part of the group, he said. Those interested may contact Van Camp by telephoning 692-2024 or 692-3900.

A winter home energy check list from ILLINOIS POWER

To conserve energy...and your money

With winter on it's way, now is a good time to give your home an inspection and find where energy may be escaping and costing you hard-earned dollars.

How's your attic insulation? Heat rises—and your attic is where most of the heat escapes during the winter. A properly insulated attic can save you money.

Are all of the exterior cracks and seams in your siding filled with caulking compound? If not, this is a good do-it-yourself project.

Drafts around your doors and windows? Weatherstrip doors and windows and seal out those drafts and save money.

Have you changed your furnace filter lately? Dirt and dust block air flow, impede heat transfer—and cost you money.

And it's a good idea to have your furnace checked by a heating contractor before winter sets in.

For more money-saving ideas, talk to your Energy Use Advisor at Illinois Power and ask about the National Energy Watch home inspection program. We can show you the best ways to save energy—and money.

So give your home an energy inspection soon.

Thorngate studies Indian history

A study on the history of the Mississippian Indians was the subject of a program presented at the monthly meeting of Thorngate Garden Club, conducted last week, at Schurcks Station Restaurant in Collinsville.

Roll call and the program was combined for a round table discussion on the life style of the Indians, food they ate and how game was caught and preserved.

Mrs. Pat Polley displayed Jerusalem artichokes as she spoke on the method of serving them and the cultivation, and June Markham noted the Indians did not rotate their crops and possibly led to the departure of the Indians from the Cahokia Mound area, after the land was burned out.

Other topics relating to the program were presented by Beula Miller on how squash was baked in open ovens and she reviewed the varieties of squash and Clara Schilling gave a detailed talk on the use of the mortar and pestle to grind the corn and make corn meal to prepare bread.

Joan Bethel described how the Indians made pans from stone and talked of the buffalo hunts and the methods the Indians used to cook the meat.

Mrs. Helen Polley answered "with" more information concerning squash and Betty King used smoked fish as her topic and at the conclusion of her talk shared a present day recipe with the group.

Discussions continued with a talk on the blason given by Ruth Allen, a guest. She noted swans and waterfowl, caught in nets made from reeds and shell fish, also made up part of the Indians diet.

Wild berries was the subject of Jane White's talk and June Lux spoke on the Indian jewelry followed by Eud Bolen, club president, speaking on fowl and how the Indians rolled the birds in mud for the baking process.

A talk on use of deer, elk and bear skins for clothing, housing, and saddles was given by Wanda Kincaid who also displayed pictures of a tribe of Indians and the pottery they created.

In closing, another guest Eileen Huelkamp, gave an original reading on the Cherokee Chief and the Cleveland Indians.

Mrs. Lillian Delpes was hostess for the day and for favors she prepared an

County will explore new approach to pupil truancy

Madison school participation in a planned Madison County Truants Alternative Program was suggested at a Madison School Board meeting Thursday night by Assistant Supt. Wade James. The board will study the plan for possible later action.

"With the impending passage of Senate Bill 623, which removes juvenile court jurisdiction over any minor solely on the basis of misbehavior, runaway activity and truancy, school districts—unable to use the threat of court action—may find it more necessary than ever to join hands with other community resources to combat truancy problems," James related.

"The Madison County Truants Alternative Program has as its main thrust a dual approach to the problem of truancy in Madison County schools."

"On the one hand, efforts will be made to provide diagnostic and intervention services to county truant officers who are working with youths who exhibit sporadic attendance patterns."

"Assistance will be provided to county truant officers in the form of an 18-member Interagency Resource Group (IRG) which will be brought together by the project coordinator to review the truancy cases with which local school personnel efforts and the efforts of local truant officers have not been effective."

"On the assumption that the cause of truancy behavior may be non-school problems, such as medical or social problems, it is hoped that the different perspectives and resources of the IRG will be of great value in diagnosing the cause of truancy and devising additional intervention strategies which might be utilized by attendance officers to assist them in their work with truant students and their families."

James added, "The other component of this project is an in-service program for four elementary teacher and principal teams focusing on increasing awareness of efforts that can be extended by school personnel to identify and prevent, at an early age, patterns of non-attendance which later develop into more severe truancy problems."

"Interwoven throughout this project is a research and evaluation component by which project efforts will be measured."

"The coordinator will collect research data gathered by the Interagency Resource Group and the teacher-principal in-service people who will be working together and sharing information throughout the project."

"From the research data gathered, strategies for truancy prevention will be developed. Also, a composite picture of the Madison County truant youngster will be developed."

"It will encompass a wide range of factors influencing his or her school attendance patterns, including home environment, social environment and school environment."

"Based on the knowledge gained from this composite picture, communities and school personnel will be able to better marshal their resources to prevent problems of non-attendance and truancy."

Aided by a state grant, through Chapter 1, Harold "Gene" Briggs is cooperating with Co-Ordinated Youth Services of Granite City in the anti-truancy effort. Dr. Janet Nazeri is to be the project coordinator.

Fight UE rate hike in Quad-Cities

The Governor's Office of Consumer Services (GOCS) will represent a community organization protesting an electric rate hike request by the Union Electric Company (UEC).

The Campaign Assuring a New Deal in Utilities (CAN DU) will be helped by the GOCS in its battle to stop a 16.8 percent rate boost request by the Union Electric Company in the Metro East area, including parts of Mitchell.

GOCS Director Al Grandys said the request would increase monthly average utility bills by $10.68 a month and raise annual revenue by $1.6 million in revenue.

"Union's rate request raises many unanswered questions," said Grandys. "The proposal to charge Illinois customers for the cancellation costs of the Callaway II nuclear plant in Missouri is an issue that needs to be discussed."

"Since Illinois regulators had no part in ordering the cancellation of the plant, the ICC should not agree to Union Electric's rate request," he said.

Illinois consumers have also expressed concerns over the quality of service from the utility and have called on Union Electric to adopt more cost-effective controls over its operations, Grandys said.

The consumer services office will work with residential, commercial and industrial groups opposed to the Union Electric request, Grandys said. Technical and legal aid also will be available through the GOCS.

Funding for workers to purchase factories

Factory employees in Illinois are now able to purchase plants that are about to be closed or about to move to another state.

"While the state already is doing much to encourage businesses to stay in Illinois and to move to our state, this law will give the people most affected by those decisions—the workers—the ability to keep their jobs, their homes and their way of life by purchasing the company they work for," said James R. Thompson said.

Under Senate Bill 1383, a seven-member Employee-Owned Enterprise Advisory Council will be formed for workers to turn to when their factory is to be moved.

The Council, which will be appointed by the governor, will work with the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Development (DCCA) and will include the DCCA director and the lieutenant governor.

Loans to help employees purchase a business will be made by the Illinois Industrial Development Authority (IIDA).

Both IIDA and the Council must approve the loan application, which could go as high as 50 percent of the total cost of the transaction.

Priority in granting loans, which cannot have an interest rate lower than 70 percent of the prime rate and must be repaid within 13 years, will be given to projects with high outside funding and that have the greatest impact on local job creation.

The law takes effect immediately.

Certified VA documents are now required

Veterans applying for benefits for dependents must now submit certified copies of such documents as marriage certificates, divorce decrees and birth certificates.

The new regulations are now in effect. Previously, a certified statement by a veteran was all that was needed to apply for Veterans Administration benefits.

The documents are required when establishing dependency on relationship. For a few years, the VA relaxed the requirement, but it has created many situations which can only be resolved by requiring certified documents, a spokesman said.

Scottish Rite will honor four

The 46 active members of the St. Louis Scottish Rite Degree of Scottish Rite Freemasonry, representing 15 northeastern and mid-western states in the Northern Jurisdiction of the U.S., opened yearly executive sessions during the weekend at Stouffer's Riverfront Towers.

More than 2,300 33rd Degree Masons and wives will attend the week-long annual meeting, culminating Wednesday with the conferral of the degree at the St. Louis Scottish Rite Cathedral on a class of 172 members elected to receive the highest award of Scottish Rite Freemasonry.

This year's recipients will include 23 Illinois Masons and among them will be four from the Scottish Rite Bodies of Southern Illinois headquartered at Belleville—Joseph W. Barnes Jr. of Highland, Richard A. Martin of Collinsville, Verne C. Williamson of Alton and Doyle E. Winterow of Effingham.

Topics being discussed by the governing board of the Supreme Council representing 491,000 Scottish Rite Masons include the progress of the organization's 49 years of research into the causes of schizophrenia.

Since adopting this program as its principal charitable activity in 1953, Northern Jurisdiction members have contributed more than $8,500,000 for the support of basic and coordinated research investigations here and abroad.

For the past five years, the research program has been directed by Robert H. Felix, M.D., M.P.H., dean emeritus of the St. Louis University School of Medicine and former director of the National Institute of Mental Health.

The meeting, the first to be held in St. Louis, features a number of large-scale activities, including a vespers service held in the grand ballroom of Stouffer's yesterday.

General meetings will take place tomorrow and Wednesday. The entire attendance will enjoy a performance by the U.S. Marine Band on Tuesday evening at the St. Louis Scottish Rite Cathedral auditorium.

Sessions will close on Thursday morning with announcement of the names of those elected to receive the 33rd Degree at Milwaukee in September 1983.

Endangered swans
Trumpeter swans were thought extinct in the United States until 1935, when a study showed that 73 remained in the vicinity of Yellowstone National Park. Because of successful efforts to re-establish and manage them on several national wildlife refuges in the West, these majestic birds now number nearly a thousand.

GC winner in before and after contest

Candace Bain has been chosen by her sister salon members at the Granite City Elaine Powers Figure Salon as the local winner of the salon chain's 10th annual "before and after" national contest.

Her feat of losing 60 pounds and 42 inches by sticking to a sensible eating, sensible exercise program developed for her at the salon earned her a $30 gift certificate for swimwear in a new size.

She attributes the weight loss to following a two-fold approach to figure improvement. First, she developed exercise habits through regular exercise on Elaine Powers' equipment designed especially for women. She took part in group floor exercise sessions and aerobics classes.

Combining this with new eating habits, which do not include fast diets or calorie counting, she attained her goal of fitting into a size 9 from her previous dress size of 18.

Candace Bain was selected by her fellow salon members as the winner of the Granite City "before and after" contest.

Her winning contest entry was then submitted to a panel of judges at Elaine Powers' corporate headquarters. Where officials selected one national and ten regional winners out of the 309 local salon winners.

Regional winners each earned a $250 gift certificate to purchase a new slim wardrobe from the store of their choice. The national winner, Jo Thungstrom, of Arlington, Texas, is on her way to all-expense paid trip for two to Paradise Island in the Bahamas.

New anti-burglary devices are intended to reduce false alarms

The Crime Prevention Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce on Friday heard an alarm system (plan) that representatives of the plan say is less expensive and more efficient than certain other systems.

The program, being suggested by its owners as suitable for Granite City, is said to achieve savings by reducing the false alarm rate, a problem in many communities, protected by alarm networks.

Ken Weinrich, branch sales manager, and Hank Hanak, security consultant of American Distribution Telegraph Co. in St. Louis, provided information about an electronic alarm system that utilizes microchips.

"Crime is everybody's concern," Weinrich said in opening his presentation. The new system, he added, is risk-prevention oriented.

The system outlined for the committee is described as easier to install and avoids the "unsightly alarm boxes for homeowners and businesses" attributed to some competitors.

With the microprocessing system, a client has the option to hook up additional alarm systems like burglary, smoke and robbery alarms, Weinrich said. The same wire is used to hook up any of the available alarm systems. ADT alarms also are capable of showing local police what time the alarm was turned on and who turned it on, he said. There also is a microchip code that can be punched into a computer, indicating that the storeowner was forced to open his establishment under duress.

One of the firm's primary goals is reduction of false alarms, Weinrich estimated that about 90 percent of all alarms are false. Granite City Chief of Police Ron Veizer, a committee member, said the figure might even be higher. Committee members were given written material to review.

The committee also discussed plans for Operation Snowball, a teen drug and alcohol awareness workshop.

Plans for the workshop will be finalized next Friday when the committee meets at the Granite City police department.

Several Quad-City high school students attended an Operation Snowball session out-of-town in 1981-82. There is hope of arranging a local meeting place this year so that a larger number may be present.

Valuations to be eased, for some

Some homeowners in Illinois will be able to use 1977 corrected equalized assessed valuations (EAV) in computing the homestead exemption for property tax relief.

"Although this will affect a relatively small number of homeowners, it is significant in that it will correct an error made five years ago in its assessment process," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

House Bill 2281, which allows homeowners to decrease their EAV by an amount equal to the change in that figure between 1977 and the following years. In some cases, local assessors had lowered homestead property assessments in 1977, thereby reducing the exemption.

The law will aid taxpayers who for various reasons did not or could not protect their 1977 assessments that year — assessments that they felt were excessive.

Some taxpayers may have had their 1977 assessment reduced the next year to correct the error, but because they have had assessment increases since then, their taxes are below the original 1977 level. That figure has kept them from taking full advantage of the homestead exemption.

Dime or $50 buying limit for the county

By JIM SCHLUETER

Writing routine purchase orders for amounts under $50 may seem like a waste of effort for Madison County's purchasing department, but some members of the county board's central services committee don't think so.

The county's outside auditor, Price-Waterhouse of St. Louis, recommended in its latest management report that the county eliminate purchase orders under $50. Director of Administration Mary Kane told the committee last week.

"We're actually signing 25-cent purchase orders," she said.

While committee member Vasil Eftimoff, Granite City, agreed that small purchase orders could be eliminated, Don McLean, Edwardsville, and Herschel Beane, Godfrey, had questions about the recommendation.

McLean, also a member of the county's finance committee, said the county board should keep close watch on all spending because of the county's projected $2 million general fund deficit in 1983.

"I think our expenditures need more perusal now," McLean said. He fears that unchecked purchases of $50 or less could be accumulated to purchase larger items that should have committee approval but instead would bypass such "check and balance."

Paraphernalia bill amended

Governor James R. Thompson has used his amendatory veto powers to make several technical changes in Senate Bill 1305, which creates the Drug Paraphernalia Control Act.

"This timely bill appropriately is aimed at squelching sales of drug paraphernalia in Illinois," he said in his amendatory veto message.

The bill prohibits businesses from offering for sale various items for drug use and carries a $1,000 fine for each violation. The measure does not, however, ban possession, manufacture or advertising of drug paraphernalia.

Thompson changed a section of the bill so that local governments can enact ordinances that have greater restrictions than state law on the sale of drug paraphernalia.

If the legislature agrees with Thompson's changes, the plan will go into effect Jan. 1, 1983.

Panel will fight bias against Illinois women

The Gannon-Proctor Commission on Women will study and recommend ways to eliminate legal, social and economic discrimination against women. A private-sector, bipartisan commission, it will seek solutions to problems that face women in Illinois.

Inquiries such as unequal pay for equal work, housing discrimination and as a guidepost for state leaders in the development of economic, legal and social policy.

Gardner Proctor, president of Proctor and Gardner Advertising, Both live in Chicago.

No members are from Madison County.

The commission will submit a final report in January 1984 to the state government. The report will serve as a guide for legislation to root out discrimination and as a guidepost for state leaders in the development of economic, legal and social policy.

Bus trip to Noel event

The Granite City Park District will sponsor a bus trip to the Breckenridge Inn at Frontenac for the Museum de Noel.

This annual Christmas event is a holiday display of many gift items. Various shops from all over the nation bring items to sell such as jewelry, knitted garments, ceramics, plums, puddings and fruitcakes.

The bus will leave the ice rink here on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at 9:15 a.m. and return at 2:30 p.m. Lunch will be "on your own" at one of the eating places in Plaza Frontenac or another restaurant in the area.

Cost of the trip is $4.25 for the bus, and admission to Musée de Noël is $2.50 per person.

Reservations are being made at the Wilson Park office, with an ID card. Non-residents will be placed on a waiting list. A spokesman at 877-3059 said.

Extend SIUE registration through Friday

Registration activities for the fall quarter at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have been extended to include the first week of classes, Eugene Magac, director of Admissions and Records, reports.

The period of registration has been lengthened to accommodate those students who may not have been able to register and those who may have made up their minds to attend classes too late for regular registration. Fall quarter classes began today.

Late registration has been scheduled in Room 1308 of the Rendleman Building today and tomorrow from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Members of the community interested in taking classes at the university for the first time during the fall quarter need to first apply for admission. New students must be admitted to the university prior to enrolling for classes, Magac said.

Admission applications are available in Room 1208 of the Rendleman Building. Additional information is available by telephoning 602-2720 or toll-free in Illinois 800-642-7860.

GUN IN TRUCK TAKEN

Lester Taylor, Ironton, Mo., reported last week that a burglar entered the locked cab of his tractor-trailer truck while it was parked behind Curly's Diner in Venice. Two knives, a flashlight and a .38-caliber handgun in a holster were taken.

RECOVER PURSE

A purse stolen in a burglary at the home of Margaret Manogan, 1732 Spruce St., was recovered last week in tall weeds near a vacant house on the same block. Missing from the purse was more than $180.

No injuries

The chemical is considered to be hazardous and the leak began creating dense white fumes beneath an overcast sky.

Cause of the rupture in the car was not determined, but it is thought to have happened during switching operation. The tank car was in an automatic switching area of the Venice yards at the time the problem was discovered.

Visible from the vehicular traffic overpass on Broadway, the rail car was located 400 to 450 feet south of the viaduct and about 150 feet north of an automatic switching area, said a Venice officer said.

TRRA officials called an emergency crew of hazardous materials experts from the Monsanto Co. and also Illinois State Police experts. The Venice Fire Department applied foam to the area of the leak.

Lime, likewise, was dumped over the affected ground to neutralize the acid. Members of the Madison Fire Department also responded.

Venice firefighters remained at the rail yard area until 3:45 p.m. Saturday, by which time the leak had been halted.

The Venice firemen were asked to return to the railroad property at about 8:30 a.m. Sunday to spray the lime with water. The water crusted the lime's surface to further neutralize the acid.

Some residents in the area of Brooklyn, south of Venice, and in National City were asked to remain indoors a period of time Saturday to avoid inhaling the fumes and suffering possible harm.

Venice authorities said the Terminal Railroad closed six tracks in the immediate vicinity of the leaking car until the fumes were gone.

No injuries resulting from the incident have been reported. At no time was it decided that evacuation of local residents would be appropriate.

There was some speculation that the vapor could become explosive if moist, and hopes were voiced that rain would not occur. The sky cleared as the morning progressed.

Police blocked nearby roads to limit the public's access to the immediate area of the tank car.

It is estimated that as much as 7,500 gallons of chlorosulfonic acid may have leaked out of the tank car.

The corrosive chemical is used mainly in producing soap products. It is manufactured by Monsanto.

A Monsanto spokesman credited railroad workers and city representatives with prompt efforts to neutralize the fumes through their use of lime. An area about 100 feet wide and 400 feet long was coated with lime by the crew members.

Neutralizing was completed within several hours, he said.

The shipment of acid was headed for a customer in Canada.

Dermatitis causes are varied

Q. My 25-year-old son has a severe case of cerebral palsy. He must be spoon-fed and he can only eat food that has been put in the blender. For the last six or eight months, he has had a skin condition that causes the skin on his face to become dry, red and itchy. Our physician gave us an ointment that hasn't done a bit of good. Could the condition be the result of a vitamin deficiency? What else could cause something like this to develop? C.H. Colonial Heights, VA.

A. The descriptions of a dry, red and scaly eruption on the face most commonly suggest a type of dermatitis. When the dermatitis involves the mid-central face, cheek bones, nose, mouth area, eyebrows and scalp, it probably represents seborrheic dermatitis, or seborrhea. This condition is very common, mild, and usually responds well to treatment.

However, in individuals who have cerebral conditions, such as cerebral palsy, strokes or even cerebral palsy, as described in your son, seborrhea tends to be more extensive and severe than in the average person and responds more slowly to treatment.

It is important to know the exact distribution of the rash. If it is around the mouth, and not so much around the rest of the face or scalp, it could be perioral dermatitis. This could be a type of dermatitis from one or more of the various substances in common contact with the face, such as toothpaste, lipstick, certain foods, cosmetics, after-shave lotion, etc. The rash could be primarily a response to irritation, similar to a chemical burn, or it could be an allergic reaction.

Rarely, an internal disease such as lupus erythematosus can produce a similar rash. In addition, some infections, such as yeast infection, and some types of so-called "deep fungi" can produce what looks like dermatitis around the mouth. These infections tend to be very red and angry looking. Other infections that could look similar include tuberculosis of the skin, and some rare tropical diseases.

A common problem that can produce dermatitis around the mouth and on the face is atopic eczema. This condition usually starts in early childhood and responds well to treatment.

Finally, a rare tumor of the pancreas, called a glucagonoma, can produce eruptions around the mouth. This glucagonoma syndrome can also produce red skin plaques all over the body.

As you can see, it is impossible to tell exactly which of the disorders your son has, based on your description. He might have one of the milder, common conditions, or he may indeed be suffering from a nutritional deficiency or other rare disorder. We recommend that if the condition persists, you consult a skin doctor for a thorough evaluation. — Dr. D.A. Lopez, assistant clinical professor of medicine, at the University of California, San Diego School of Medicine.

Skinner hitting state tax

BY AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — Cal Skinner calls the state income tax the "gut issue" of the campaign.

Skinner, a Republican candidate for comptroller, is considered by some in the political community to be a shrewd gambler. At a recent labor convention he was referred to as "acid tongue."

And since he has no money to finance a campaign for comptroller against incumbent Roland Morris, any accusation that he is grandstanding for media attention wouldn't be without merit.

After all, even though he would not be the state chief fiscal officer, the comptroller's office has next to nothing to do with establishing tax policy.

But the former McHenry County state legislator and county treasurer knows that the state's fiscal condition is similar to what it was in 1968, and the approach during the gubernatorial campaign is similar, too.

In that campaign 14 years ago, Richard B. Ogilvie and Sam Shapiro had a general understanding that they would say they were against taxes, but they wouldn't elaborate much on the issue.

Once in office Ogilvie immediately proposed the state income tax and the state has been free to talk about it since then.

Because of the revenue generated by the tax, the state has been free to talk about it since then.

Then he attempted to take himself off the political hook by appointing a commission to study taxation and report back to him immediately after the election.

Gov. Jim Thompson ordered to keep some money in the state treasury, delayed school aid payments and reduced the payment levels into state employee retirement systems.

Then he attempted to take himself off the political hook by appointing a commission to study taxation and report back to him immediately after the election.

Bookkeeper says mayor's facts don't add up

To the Editor:

Many Madison residents (whom) I have met recently have felt the "lady" in Mayor Sasyk's reply in your Aug. 23rd issue was me. If it were me, he mentioned the allegations made without figures as he presented them.

The allegations in his reply, if it referred to me, were a digression from me, not me. True, I was born and raised in Venice, but I have lived and paid taxes in Madison for 33 years and my husband has never considered running for an y public office—township or otherwise—and has not asked for anyone's endorsement. (The Mayor speaks for the entire city administration, as per his signature to the letter, but does he also speak for the Venice and Granite City portions of the township?) Being a bookkeeper is an honest way to make a living—and I have never had a hand-out job or side income from any public body. Besides, being a bookkeeper makes it more apparent when their projects do not add up. For instance, he only speaks of less than half of the proceeds from the Waggoner sale—what happened to the rest of the money? Was there a real estate commission paid? And to whom? How much were the attorney fees? Who paid them and to whom were they paid? The mathematics weren't plausible on the shopping center either—the mayor then resorted to how much sales tax income the shopping center was going to bring in. Alderman Gordon says the sales tax receipts are down, that is why the corporate tax is not reduced, as promised by the administration when the utility tax was put on. I have not written to the editor without signing my name, but I don't understand why the mayor stands on such ceremony about answering questions that should be public knowledge—does he know the answers, or is there something to hide? I didn't write the letter because I don't want to bring the answers out in the open I would be happy to stop by and sign the mayor's copy. A recent article presented the manner in which a citizen can speak at council meetings of surrounding communities. I smiled when Madison was not listed, because you cannot speak at a Madison Council meeting, and that, Mr. Mayor, is why we have to resort to asking through the press. It certainly appears I am not the only one who would like some answers. If you had asked the citizens how to spend their money, someone of us might have suggested an escalator installation at the mall to use all of that roof space.

Slave labor being used for Soviet pipeline

To the Editor:

Two recent developments have convinced me once again of how vitally important it is to the future of our great nation that we have a strong, unified United Mine Workers.

The first was the shameful repression of our labor brothers and sisters of Solidarity by the Soviets through their Polish puppets during the recent Labor Day observance.

The second was intelligence reports that the Soviets are using slave labor in building their Siberian natural gas pipeline—so desperate are the Russians to gain the hard currency the sales of natural gas will bring to their shaky economy.

In the first instance, let the word go out once again that the men and women who mine American coal stand firm-square behind the workers of Poland who have raised the banner of Solidarity as a symbol of determination and defiance in an oppressed land.

We understand their struggles; we understand their risk; we understand the odds they face.

We will not rest easy until they have achieved the freedoms for which they fight—freedoms which American workers have fought for and now enjoy.

In the second instance, the ruthlessness of the Soviets shows clearly how vital they consider the Siberian pipeline in their continuing struggle for world domination. They clearly understand that pipeline built. Without the currency it will bring, they must eventually begin to channel less money into weapon of international destruction and more money into trying to feed their own people.

Well, the UMWA has a message for Moscow, for the governments of Western Europe, and for our own president.

To Moscow, and our somewhat shaky allies in Europe, I say this: There is an economic alternative to Soviet natural gas that will meet your energy needs for decades to come—American coal. And you can count on it.

Soviet efforts to destabilize American coal production and to fragment and undermine the UMWA through "comrades" and "fellow travelers" here are doomed to certain failure.

As president of this great union, I pledge a new era of stability in the coalfields, a new era of safety and prosperity for American miners, and a never-ending flow of American coal into the hungry homes and factories of Europe that will crush once and for all soviet efforts at economic blackmail.

Pres. Reagan, I say this: We have had our differences in the past. We will surely have our differences in the future. The UMWA will never shirk its duty, its right, privilege to raise a strong voice on behalf of the men and women who labor in our nation's mines. But on the issue of the Soviet pipeline, Mr. President, we are united.

We support completely your efforts to block construction of the pipeline, and we urge all American workers to join with us in that support.

We ask, also, our senators and congressmen to ignore the frantic blarneying of the faint-hearted at home and abroad who would give the Soviets a major economic victory by default.

In the long run, blocking the Soviet pipeline will mean more jobs for Americans, more economic growth and stability for our economy, and a stronger world alliance against the threat of Soviet domination.

When Sandra Ragan of Granite City heard voices and footsteps upstairs and came up from the basement she found two men standing in the living room, she told police at 5:40 p.m. Sunday.

One of the men was holding the telephone and the other asked if someone named "Nancy" lived there. She replied "no" and demanded the men, whom she didn't know, leave the dwelling.

A description of the men was given officers and the pair was picked up at 20th and Ellis Avenue and identified as Carroll N. Pashea, 49, of 2222 State St., and Andrew V. Steinecke, 35, of 1025 Cleveland Blvd. Both were charged with disorderly conduct and Steinecke was released at 9:50 p.m. Sunday on payment of a $32 cash bond.

SENTENCED ON PHONE HARASSMENT CHARGE

Mark A. Crider, listed as either 18 or 20 years old, of 853 Thorgate Drive, Mitchell, was charged Friday with harassment by telephone. He also was held on an Aug. 18 disorderly conduct charge.

A $75 fine and a three-day stay in the Madison County jail were ordered at a hearing that afternoon in Granite City. The Jeff Chaboude family and police officers alleged harassment was taking place in retaliation for the earlier case.

News notes

Gov. James R. Thompson, now running for reelection in the polls, chose Danville on Saturday as the location for a new 750-bed state prison. He proposed still a criminal prison, for whose site there are 19 applicants, including East St. Louis.

Ending their home season Sunday, the St. Louis baseball Cardinals set an all-time season attendance mark of 2,111,906. There were 81 games at Busch Stadium in 1982; average attendance topped 26,000.

With six games remaining, the team needs only two wins (or two Philadelphia losses) to clinch the National League East Division championship; playoff tickets went on sale today and the opponent could be Los Angeles, now first in the West, or Atlanta or San Francisco, each only one game behind. The Cardinals lead the Phillies by five and a half games and have eliminated everyone but them and the opponent could be Expos, who are six and a half games behind.

Paul S. Cousley, publisher of the Alton Telegraph daily paper, on Friday at Phoenix, Ariz., won the John Peter Zenger Award in recognition of the local area newspaper's efforts to preserve freedom of the press.

Norfolk Western Railway is seeking 47 new trials in the cases of Missouri railroad workers who received nearly $18 million in court awards in the Madison County Circuit Court this summer. The men alleged ailments associated with their efforts to clean up a chemical spill after a tank car ruptured in a January 1979 derailment near Sturgeon, Mo.

There are still a few dinner tickets remaining for the Rotary-Optimist Camelot auction in October. Club members can be contacted for tickets. New auction items include a wine tasting party and dinner, an original oil painting, a hand-made quilt, and a night of dinner and dancing.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony is planned at 3:30 p.m. Thursday at the new Bissell Apartments, 1300 Klein St. Venice. A reception will follow at the Venice Recreation Center.

The August economic inflation was at a 3.3 percent annual rate.

A threat that Bi-State buses might be disrupted ended Friday when feuding St. Louis County board members reached an agreement and authorized release of tax funds to the bus system.

County Coroner Dallas Burke says her deputies are finding it hard to reach crime and accident scenes because they are being stopped for speeding. Most no longer operate ambulances and instead use their own autos.

Negotiations are planned at 4 p.m. Wednesday by the negotiating committee of the Madison County Board and Madison County Board and Madison 799 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

HEADLINERS

By NANCY ANDERSON

Robby Benson, who plays Olympic star Billy Mills in the upcoming movie "Running Brave," is getting some first-class coaching for his role from Bill Easton, the track coach at the University of Kansas. It was Easton who prepared Mills for the '64 Tokyo Olympics, when he won the gold medal in the 10,000-meter run. Easton says Benson is a natural athlete, "not just an actor playing a runner." Easton should know, since his Kansas track team has won eight straight conference titles.

There have been some more shake-ups in the fall TV lineup. First, NBC dropped "Mama's Family" starring Vicki Lawrence to make room for "Taxi." Then CBS set aside "Mama Malone" to clear a spot for "Filthy Rich" which was designed as a summer mini-series but has shown such muscle that it will continue in the fall.

As for the two "Mama" shows, neither is totally dead. Either could replace an early drop-out for its network.

Bill Hayes and Susan Seaforth Hayes, the stars of "Days of Our Lives," will celebrate their 8th wedding anniversary in October.

When the couple isn't on the set of the daytime soap opera 50 weeks a year, they're taking a song-and-dance act on the road.

The Hayes are also writers and the two are collaborating on a column for the magazine Soap Opera Digest. Bill is completing his autobiography.

The new Duke boys, Coy and Luke, who replace Bo and Luke this fall, will show up on the premier episode of "The Dukes of Hazzard."

The script explains that Coy and Vance are cousins who've been away for a few years — but it doesn't explain the absence of Bo and Luke.

Sonny Shroyer returns as Enos in the season opener.

Dr. Joyce Brothers had these words of wisdom the other day:

"In a relationship without romance, love-making can be no more fulfilling than a sneeze."

Bruce Boxleitner will get a romantic leading role when he stars opposite Linda Evans and Genie Francis in a two-part TV-movie entitled, "Bare Essence" which airs October 4th and 5th.

The drama is about super-rich jet-setters and is based on a novel by Meredith Rich.

Tom Selleck will co-star with Sam Elliott, Ben Johnson and Katharine Ross in a TV-movie entitled "The Shadow Riders" based on a Louis L'Amour book and airing September 28th over CBS.

Selleck and Elliott play brothers who fought on opposite sides during the Civil War.

Meanwhile, Selleck has spent the last four months in Yugoslavia filming the movie "High Road To China."

Here's a little trivia for you:

Georgeann Johnson, who'll play John Ritter's mother in "Three's Company" this fall, once played Tony Randall's wife on Wally Cox's "Mr. Peepers" show in the early days of television.

Also, she played Henry Fonda's wife on Broadway in the play "Critic's Choice."

When Barbara Eden returned to Los Angeles following a tour with "The Best Little Whorehouse In Texas," she was greeted with a happy surprise from friends. They added a deck with a terrific view to the back of her house, something Barbara has always wanted.

The house overlooks Benedict Canyon in Beverly Hills.

The folks in Kansas City love the Oak Ridge Boys almost as much as they love baseball. Their hit song "Elvira" is played during the 7th-inning stretch at every Royals' home game and their recording of the National Anthem is played at every other home game.

Rudy Gatlin recently saw one of his dreams come true when he shot a hole-in-one during a recent round of golf at the Brentwood Country Club near Nashville, Tenn.

The ace helped Rudy shoot a 78 for the day.

Roy Clark will be featured on an hour-long special airing in November and December on selected United Airlines flights.

Country star Archie Campbell has been set to host "Yesteryear in Nashville," one of the shows that will air over the Nashville Network when the cable service begins operations next year.

"Yesteryear" will be a 30-minute daily show taking an informal look at the country music industry and its people.

During a recent two-day fishing trip to Florida, Jim Ed Brown caught the biggest white marlin landed this season. The feat will be featured next February on "Country Sportsman," which is a Nashville cable-TV series hosted by Bobby Lord.

Jeannie C. Riley is in Toronto, Canada, taping her second appearance of the year on the "Tommy Hunter Show."

She'll be touring Nova Scotia after a short stop in Nashville, Tenn.

During the Montreal Film Festival to celebrate the success of "Porky's," producers Mel Simon and Harold Greenberg turned the grand ballroom of the Hyatt Hotel into a delicatessen complete with an ice-cream bar.

Greenberg announced that "Porky's II" has finished production. The original cost about $4.5 million and has grossed more than $100 million.

Lots of action for Gil Gerard

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — GIL GERARD is in the midst of one of the busiest years of his career, and viewers can expect to see the former Buck Rogers of prime time back on at least two television movies and a series set to premiere mid-season.

The first of the movies to air will be "Not Just Another Affair," which also stars VICTORIA PRINCIPAL, RICHARD KLINE and JUDIE STRANGIS, in one of her first roles since "Room 222."

The movie is a romantic comedy. A raunchy kind of guy meets a girl he can't conquer. After a series of romantic mishaps, they do get together.

He's also completed work on "Hear No Evil," about a cop who goes after the Hell's Angels who deafened him. Both projects are for CBS, with "Not Just Another Affair" airing on Oct. 2.

Topping it all off is an upcoming hour-long series, also for CBS, which has had several titles including "Gib" and "King's Quarter." Gil would play the owner of a New Orleans jazz club who allows himself to get involved in his friends' problems. That means action, adventure, fights, soldier of fortune — whatever.

All this work has meant that Gil has been separated from his year-old GIB and wife CONNIE SELLECCA (of "The Greatest American Hero") more than he's wanted to. He's been married to Connie for three years — and it's his third marriage. Finding time to make the marriage work is a problem.

"It's very difficult to juggle," he said. "We don't really have enough time to speak together to work on the relationship. It's difficult to keep it going."

"It takes a lot of work," he continued. "I guess the key is to work for quality time, but that's great in theory. In reality little things pile up, little arguments, problems. You don't have enough time to work it out before they become big things."

Of course, Gil does try to find extra time for his son, but Gib goes to the set with Connie. Adding to the "juggling" is the fact that wife Connie does not feel comfortable having Gil watch her working and does not like him to watch her series unless she is with him. His feedback makes her nervous.

"At the moment I'm home a bit more," Gil concluded. "We'll all spend time together. Then my series will get under way and there will be a separation of time."

"I guess there's no getting around it in show business, but it is tough."

On the film scene, BURT REYNOLDS has said he will not star in "Smokey and the Bandit III," but JACKIE GLEASON has eagerly agreed to return. In fact, he'll play a dual role in the picture, which goes into production probably in October.

There are plans to turn STEVE McQUEEN's life into a feature film as well. The rights to McQueen's life — from an upcoming book — have been bought by the same production company that brought you "SHA NA NA" on the small screen. There is sure to be a major talent hunt for this leading role.

LEE GRANT plays mother to SUSAN BLAKELY in "Will There Really Be a Morning," a CBS TV movie about the life of actress FRANCES FARMER. Farmer had studied acting very seriously, but found that in Hollywood her sweet blonde looks got her only silly roles in costume epics. When she rebelled, her mother had her put in mental institutions.

There is nothing set yet, but CICELY TYSON is developing a TV series project with a major studio. So is MARIETTE HARTLEY, who has decided she wants to do a sitcom.

Making a guest appearance on the upcoming syndicated series "Madame's Place" is DEBBIE REYNOLDS. The show will be a daily and weekend comedy featuring the creation of WAYLAND FLOWERS.
